New Paltz Loses Police

By LYNN MULVANEY and
LYNN GOLDENBERG

Insurance Lapsed at Midnight

NEW PALTZ — Unable to renew or secure new police liability insurance, New Paltz Police Department went out of business at midnight while state police and sheriff deputies moved in to protect the town and village's 16,000 residents.

Faced with a Thursday midnight insurance expiration date, local officials learned only the day before that no company had been found to insure the police department, apparently because of frequency of claims filed against it, said town supervisor William Yeaple.

When last minute frantic efforts to secure a carrier failed, the village and town boards considered self-insurance, but voted it down "on the grounds that it would place the community in fiscal jeopardy," in the event taxpayers had to pay the full cost of a settlement, Yeaple said.

The 14-man New Paltz Police Force as has been placed on paid suspension. Officers are not now permitted to wear their uniforms or carry a revolver, said police commissioner Anthony Puglisi.

State Police Lt. Stanley Kowalik provided New Paltz with a police car patrol around the clock and Sheriff Thomas Mayone, who was told of the crises little more than 12 hours earlier, told the Freeman he has offered the services of one car and five men around the clock. Other state police cars in outlying areas will be used as backups, Kowalik said.

Secret night and day meetings led up to Thursday night's 10 p.m. press conference at which it was announced that Corwin Insurance Company in New Paltz had notified local officials Feb. 10 that the American Home Assurance Company had refused to continue coverage of the police. The Corwin Agency handles $29,818 in insurance for the Town of New Paltz.

Village Trustee Judith Fractenberg revealed that the reason given for denial of continued coverage was "frequency of claims." She said 12 claims have been lodged against police in the past two years, totaling $1.4 million. Of that number, two have been withdrawn and one was settled for $3,500.

While state police and sheriff deputy patrols won't cost New Paltz any money, they will involve some overtime for state police, Kowalik said, indicating that free service would not go on indefinitely.

Yeaple expressed the hope that the situation would be temporary although at this point he has no idea

Out of The Sunshine

When a crisis hits — especially a potentially embarrassing crisis — the first impulse of public officials is to head for the back room, lock the doors, pull the shades and do the taxpayers' business in private.

New York State's new "Sunshine Law" is supposed to prevent officialdom from exercising its burrowing instinct, but the message apparently hasn't reached as far as the New Paltz Town Hall.

The impending police crisis suddenly came to the attention of New Paltz officials Wednesday when their insurance agent revealed he couldn't find a company willing to renew the police insurance policy. The policy was due to expire Thursday at midnight. The current carrier had refused to renew because of "too many claims" against the department.

Obviously the problem was a matter of grave importance to the people of New Paltz. Without insurance coverage the department couldn't function. The town could be left without protection.

And there were larger questions. Why did the town learn of the problem so late when notice of non-renewal had arrived at town hall on Feb. 16? Why is the police department uninsurable?

Town officials met Wednesday night. Contrary to the law, they neglected to inform the press. The new law provides the press and public must be notified, if only by a phone call, "within a reasonable time" before any meeting held on short notice, according to Robert J. Freeman, executive director of the Committee on Public Access to Records, the state body charged with administering the Sunshine Law.

"Public notice must be given to any extent practicable," he told the Freeman this morning. "And the meeting must be convened in public."

If the officials want to conduct a secret session, they must first meet publicly, move for executive session and give a legal reason for secrecy before adjourning to privacy. No official votes may be taken in secret and minutes of the meeting must be available to the public afterward.

Thursday afternoon New Paltz officials met again on the police issue. They didn't invited at least one village board member and again no notice was given. But Freeman court reporter Lynn Mulvaney happened to arrive at town hall while the meeting was in progress. When she asked to be admitted to the meeting she was turned away without explanation.

No information on the situation was given to the public until late Thursday night, a couple of hours before the New Paltz police department ceased to function.

The Sunshine Law provides that actions taken by elected officials without proper public notice and access may be voided in court if a citizen complains. But more to the point, local officials should get over the notion that the citizens who elected them are meant to do their bidding.

It's the other way around.

OPENING DAY

Trout fishermen stood shoulder-to-shoulder on the wall below the Dividing Weir of the Ashokan Reservoir this morning. It was a popular spot since local streams, especially the Esopus Creek, were running high, fast and dirty on this first day of trout season. More on Opening Day in Ulster County on page 13

Yeaple Wanted Police Abolished, Logan Says

NEW PALTZ — New Paltz Village Trustee John Logan today accused Town Supervisor William Yeaple of using the community's emergency insurance dilemma to bring about a permanent state police takeover of New Paltz police responsibility.

Logan suggests the town and village's inability to secure insurance liability coverage for its police gave Yeaple opportunity to demonstrate what he's wanted all along — abolishment of the local police force.

Describing Yeaple's attitude toward local police as "niggardly, stingy and negative," Logan said the supervisor "has wanted to cut the number of patrol cars and mileage. He has fought salary increases and did everything he could to eliminate equipment requests."

Logan said Yeaple, at a public meeting about six weeks ago, suggested the police department be cut by two men.

Logan is also more than miffed by the secrecy that surrounded the insurance problem.

He said he attended a joint meeting of town, village and police boards Wednesday night to consider the question, but he was not informed of meetings which went on Thursday afternoon and evening.

He said Mayor John Vett has "frozen me out of everything," and that the town board did not invite members of the village board to Thursday night's 10 p.m. press conference at which the discontinuance of police insurance was discussed.

When he told Vett that the village board might have something to contribute, then he and other board members were invited at the last

Director Will Close Pine Grove School

SAUGERTIES — Pine Grove School and Camp, denied recertification by the state, will voluntarily and temporarily close May 1, its director, Nello-John Pesci said Thursday.

The temporary closing will allow Pesci to "fix up and renovate" the premises and reopen at a later date if an agreement can be worked out with the State Department of Mental Hygiene, he said.

In view of the voluntary closing, Pesci feels a scheduled public hearing on his recertification is "superfluous," and he believes the state should stay the hearing.

Pine Grove School, which has been home for 35 mentally retarded children and adults, has been the subject of severely critical reports issued by state inspectors.

A number of the clients have been moved to other facilities for the retarded in recent weeks. Pesci said a gradual transfer of the rest is being worked out with state authorities.

State Health Official Henry Radminski said accommodations for all but five of the clients have been found but Pesci said about 12 or 13 clients

State Constitution Heads for Kingston

By SID LEAVITT

KINGSTON — The state's original constitution, about to take its first major road trip in nearly three decades, won't be covered by a specific insurance policy when it comes to Kingston this month, even though the document is valued at a minimum $500,000.

However, there will be plenty of armed guards accompanying the 200-year-old document during its Kingston visit April 19-25, and officials haven't publicly expressed any worries about security.

"All state agencies are self-insured, and that is why no specific policy was drawn up for the loan to Kingston," said James P. Gold of the Palisades Interstate Park Commission, which administers the Senate House His-

State Spending Is 'Just Great' for Area

By CHAZY DOWALIBY
Freeman staff

KINGSTON — The newly-enacted state budget bodes well for Ulster and most of the other counties in New York state.

Local legislators agree the $11.4 billion budget passed last Thursday night in Albany was "just great" for local governments.

"It's a good budget," says Assemblyman Maurice Hinchey, D-101st Dist.

"The legislature worked on this for over two months and it passed with almost unanimous agreement."

Hinchey noted several provisions of the spending package, including school aid, money for sewer districts, and stabilized revenue sharing percentages will all mean Ulster County will get as much, if not more of its share of state money during fiscal 1977-78.

State Senator Richard Schermerhorn, R-40th Dist., agreed that without the restored aid to education funds and the sewage district money "that budget could have been a disaster."

"Thank God for a Republican Senate," the senator said.

Schermerhorn didn't feel the compromise budget did anything in the area of welfare reform, but said he was assured by Senate leadership that "we're going to pass major welfare reform after April 19," the date legislators return from a two week recess. One aspect of welfare reform included in the measure would reward counties which keep a tight rein on home relief recipients.

Hinchey noted the new formula for reimbursing home relief costs could pay back an extra 10 per cent to Ulster County if a review of the number of recipients now on the rolls show less than five per cent were either ineligible or receiving more help than they should.

It would reward a county running a tight ship, said the Assemblyman.

A serious concern to Ulster budget planners had been the proposed cut from 25 per cent to 12.5 per cent in the amount of money the state would assume for unified court reform costs

World in Brief

Pilot Who Shot 7 Doesn't Remember

MANILA, The Philippines (UPI) — The Manila Times Journal reported today that the pilot who allegedly shot and killed seven persons during a flight over the southern Philippines claims he cannot remember the bizarre shooting spree.

"I can't believe it," Ernesto Agudlos said when told he had killed six Philippine soldiers and a stewardess Thursday.

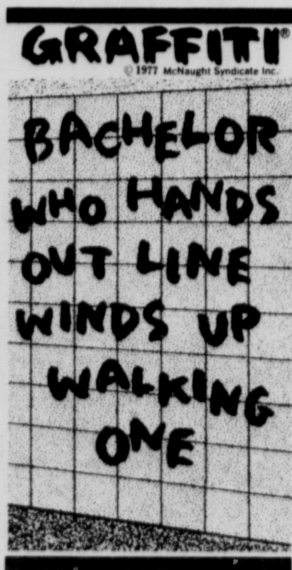

Another nine soldiers were wounded. The chartered C47 Swift Air Lines plane was returning 34 soldiers to the southern island of Tawi Tawi after a rest and recreation break in Zamboanga City.

Offer One-Sided, According to Soviets

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko told foreign reporters Thursday the United States is to be blamed for the collapsed American-Soviet arms talks. Gromyko said the U.S. proposals were "one-sided" and "would damage the security of the Soviet Union."

He also said that President Carter's human rights campaign "aggravates the political atmosphere."

GM Report Tells Of Bribery Abroad

DETROIT (UPI) — An internal report released by General Motors indicates outside agents may have made improper payments in its behalf to influence sales of non-automotive products in some overseas markets.

The disclosure was contained in an annual report filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission Thursday.

GM Chairman Thomas A. Murphy termed the payments "minor deviations from its (GM's) high standards" and said no corporate officials were involved.

Smith Convicted Of Trying to Kill

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — "Death Row author" Edgar Herbert Smith Jr., who battled 14 years to escape the electric chair, has been convicted of attempted murder and kidnapping with intent to rob a seamstress last October.

Superior Court Judge Gilbert Harelson ordered a probation report despite his expressed belief "the defendant is not eligible for probation." (More on page 20)

Hinchey Makes Major Revisions in Catskill Commission

KINGSTON — Assemblyman Maurice D. Hinchey, D-101, has increased the membership and reduced the geographical domain of his proposed Catskill Regional Commission, two major revisions which he has attributed to "substantive" criticism raised at public hearings on his proposal.

"These changes, I think, meet a lot of the serious objections that have been raised at the hearings," Hinchey said Thursday, announcing that his legislation to create the commission is being re-drafted in more than a half dozen areas.

The Saugerites Democrat's announcement brought immediate rebuttal from three Republican assemblymen in outlying districts of the region — Clarence D.

"Larry" Lane of Windham, Charles D. Cook of Delhi and Clarence D. "Rapp" Rappleyea of Norwich — who called Hinchey's revision "the same old vinegar in a new wine bottle."

Hinchey has increased the voting membership of the commission from seven to 13, with a guarantee that a majority would be named by the governor from candidate lists drawn by county legislatures in the region, at least one commissioner coming from each list.

The territory in which the commission would develop and protect resources under a comprehensive plan has been reduced from a six- to a five-county area — Ulster, Greene, Sullivan, Delaware and parts of Schoharie, deleting Otsego County.

Hinchey's legislation, his second attempt in two sessions to create the commission, is said to be the "lead" bill among two similar measures, the other sponsored by the state Department of Environmental Conservation. The DEC bill covers the same five-county area.

Other Hinchey revisions include:

- An extra year for the commission to present its comprehensive Catskills resources management plan to the governor and legislature, now deadline for 1980.
- Provision that the commission will make periodic reports to county legislatures as well as to the governor and legislature.

- Wording that affirms the social and economic differences as well as similarities of the region's parts, and that asks recognition of these differences.

- Wording that reaffirms individual property rights.

- Definition of specific regional interests — agriculture, real estate and land development, industry, local government, tourism, and conservation and planning — and provision that each interest should be represented by at least one commissioner.

The latter four revisions were implicit in Hinchey's original measure, he said, "but we kept hearing these concerns over and over again at the hearings, so we put in the wording to allay the fears."

Besides the seven voting members drawn from county legislative lists, two more appointments would be made on recommendation of the Senate majority leader, two on recommendation of the Assembly speaker, and the final two would be totally at the governor's discretion, although all would have to be registered voters from the region.

In a related development Thursday, the State Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of the law creating the Adirondack Park Agency, rejecting challenges by a municipality and a land developer.

The APA, which supervises land use planning in a six-million-acre park, was upheld in its decision to veto a development project by Wambat Realty Corp. in the area of Black Brook township.

Hinchey's bill on the Catskill Regional Commission is expected to be introduced late this month after two more public hearings in Delhi and Gilboa-Conesville, bringing the total of hearings to seven.

His revisions "address the substantive, as opposed to the rhetoric criticisms of just about every county official and assemblyman who has testified at the hearings," Hinchey said.

As for criticism from Lane, Cook and Rappleyea, he said, "Some people just come to object in general — they don't want anything at all — and these changes won't solve that at all."

100,000TH RIDER

Angela Dedrick

KINGSTON — Angela Dedrick, a resident of 132 Newkirk Avenue, Kingston, recently became the 100,000th person to ride the Kingston minibuses system and in recognition of the event she will be able to ride the buses for free during the month of April.

A regular rider of the line, Ms. Dedrick boarded driver Tony Pagliaro's "A" route at 2:54 p.m. on Friday, March 25.

The new minibus system began operation on April 26, 1976 along two new routes in addition to the original Broadway route formerly contracted by the city. The initial 11 months of the system saw a 230 per cent gain in total ridership and an average daily patronage increase growth from 152 in 1975 to the present 392 average during March of this year.

A federal/state financed study of the Kingston bus system is currently underway and it's expected to produce a transit system development plan for the basis of future improvements in the system.

Paperwork Cuts County's EDA Chances

KINGSTON — A pile-up in government paperwork is the apparent nemesis of Ulster County's attempts to be designated a federal redevelopment area.

The county has been trying to get the U.S. Economic Development Administration (EDA) to approve Ulster's Overall Economic Development Plan since last September.

"It's gotten almost ridiculous," says Linda Uhlfelder of the intergovernmental coordinator's office.

The special designation as a redevelopment area would allow Ulster to apply for a variety of economic development grants and would also permit local businesses to put in for low-cost government loans.

There is no guaranteed dollar estimate on how much, if any, federal grant money would be acquired by the designation.

The main hitch is getting EDA okay has been the county's inclusion of "acceptable" minority representatives on the OED committee.

The black members were among the original appointees to the body, but EDA wanted approval of the choices by a local civil rights organization.

Ulster's NAACP sent an affirmative letter to the regional EDA office in Philadelphia in November. Nothing more was heard about the subject again until February when the county was told a resolution by the NAACP, not just a letter, was necessary before the application could be processed.

"What happened between November and February?" says Ms. Uhlfelder.

"EDA told us one of the reasons things have been so slow is the absolute flood of paperwork that came in with the public works projects plans last year."

A spokesman at EDA confirmed the "paperwork avalanche which had accompanied the special Congressional program in November and December.

"There was a time in November and early December when our normal workload was at a virtual standstill."

To top things off, Ms. Uhlfelder is still waiting to get a written set of instructions on just what EDA wants in the way of an NAACP resolution.

"Everything has been done with phone calls to Philadelphia. We can't be calling them every morning asking them what to do next," she said.

Area Congressmen have also been making their own inquiries into the situation, she says, and at least two of them have received conflicting answers from EDA.

Rep. Hamilton Fish, Jr., R-25th Dist., was told in October Ulster approval was imminent.

In November, Rep. Matthew McHugh, D-27th, heard the story about needed approval of minority committee members.

"We just don't know what consideration we will be given at this point," says Ms. Uhlfelder.

The OEDPC will meet next Wednesday to talk about the problem again.

ETA Holds Memo of Agreement at Issue

Ellenville Teachers: Still No Contract

ELLENVILLE — The Ellenville Teachers Association is still working without a contract.

Kenneth Beck, school board president, said at a special meeting Tuesday night that the district has signed a contract and forwarded it to ETA negotiator Dennis Campagna, but it still hasn't been signed by ETA officials.

AT issue is a memorandum of agreement signed by the two parties several weeks ago. William Lenard, ETA president, charges the terms of the contract offered by the district do not conform to terms in the memorandum.

"I told him we will not live with a memorandum of agreement," Beck said. "We must have a signed contract."

He said teachers have insisted on further negotiations, based on their contention that the contract does not accurately reflect conditions agreed to in the memorandum.

"Whether this will take place or not we don't know at this point," Beck said. "When officials of the association sign the contract, the district stands ready to immediately implement all the negotiated agreements."

The board also revealed a tentative $5,728,383 budget for the 1977-78 school year. If approved, it would raise the present school tax from $218 per thousand of assessed valuation to $222.92, an increase of 2.25 per cent.

Ellenville, originally slated for a loss of $73,000 in state aid, learned last week that it would break even in the coming year. Another $200,000 set aside for the elementary school, turned down by district voters last year, will be applied to the upcoming budget to help hold down taxes, Beck said.

The board did not adopt the budget, deferring action until it meets in special session April 12 to give the public more time to study the new figures.

The regular board meeting slated for April 12 was put back until April 19 for the spring recess, but moved back to the original date to give time for study of the budget by the public. The district election and vote on the budget will be held May 4.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Village Taxpayers To Get a Break

NEW PALTZ — Village taxpayers will receive their third straight tax break this year, with the tax rate scheduled to drop approximately $2 per thousand of assessed valuation.

The drop to a tentative $15.68 from last year's $17.57 is possible, according to Village Clerk-Treasurer Robert Remsnyder, due to strict cost control and belt tightening efforts.

"When I came here in 1975," Remsnyder said in an interview, "the rate was over $19 per thousand. I've brought the rate down for three years in a row, and that's with the increased cost of just about everything."

Remsnyder's $814,771 budget, which he says is "austere, cut down, with no fat at all," shows an overall decrease of more than $136,600 from last year's $951,393.

How does he do it? "There are a number of ways," he said. "You can't take just one."

One major aspect of Remsnyder's cost-control plan is to control expenditures. "I've instituted a purchase order system that limits purchases to only department heads and requires my approval on any item over $50."

Remsnyder has also changed buying procedures by buying items in bulk and at discounts.

Strict accountability is demanded in terms of overtime under Remsnyder's program. "I've cut overtime and eliminated some part-time positions," he said, "which has enabled me to include an across-the-board cost of living raise for all permanent personnel."

Another side of Remsnyder's program involves increased revenue which, he said, is accomplished by better cash management.

"I invest where I get better interest for village deposits and negotiate interest rates when any loan is necessary. "All these things—savings through management, increased productivity, curtailment of overtime and part-time, increased interest, reduction in interest paid, reduction in debt service—add these together and that's how you effect a tax break."

Cuts in this year's budget include $18,000 in police services and $10,000 in debt services. Expenditures will increase in insurance, up $10,000, snow removal, up $6,000, and street lighting, planning, salaries and wages.

Remsnyder realizes, however, that he can't keep cutting forever. "In a three year period, I've put cost consciousness in effect. But you reach a point where you've cut the maximum. In order to hold the tax rate next year, even with no reduction, it would take a major effort."

Though Remsnyder's budget for the 1977-78 fiscal year is tentative, he expects no substantial change before the May 1 deadline.

Public input on the budget will be invited at a budget hearing set for 8 p.m. Monday, April 4, in the Village Hall.

Mohonk Tax Conference

NEW PALTZ—There will be a property taxation and land use conference at Lake Mohonk, New Paltz, on April 22 and 23.

The purpose of the conference will be to examine the mechanics and shortcomings of the state property tax as they relate to the statewide policy objectives affecting the use of land. The conference will be co-sponsored by The Catskill Center for Conservation and Development, Inc., The Center for the Hudson River Valley, and The Environmental Leaders Forum of Syracuse and Cornell Universities.

Anyone interested in attending the conference should contact Francis F. Dunwell, coordinator of The Center for the Hudson River Valley, Stonykill Farm, Route 9D, Wappingers Falls.

CAPITOL CAPSULE

Guards, State Reach Agreement

ALBANY (UPI) — A summary of state government news:

Two-Year Contract

The union representing state prison guards and other security officers reached a tentative agreement with the state on a new contract. Council 82 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, threatened two weeks ago to strike if there was no progress by the time the old contract expired. After an all-night bargaining session, representatives of Council 82 and the state announced agreement on a new two-year pact. They said details would be withheld until the contract was ratified by the 8,600 members.

New State Police Contract

The union representing most state police and the state announced tentative agreement on a new two-year contract hours before the old pact expired at midnight Thursday. The new pact calls for a $775 raise effective Friday and an $815 increase on April 1, 1978, as well as other minor salary increases for certain categories of employees, officials said. It must be ratified by the State Police Benevolent Association's 3,100 members.

MTA Chairman To Be Named

Administration sources said Gov. Hugh Carey Friday would officially name Harold Fisher, a prominent Brooklyn Democrat, as chairman of the Metropolitan Transportation Authority. The authority operates mass-transit and tunnel facilities in the greater New York area, airport facilities in Newburgh and Farmingdale and the Long Island Railroad. Fisher has been acting chairman since David Yunich resigned three months ago.

Instead of the $80,000 a year Yunich received, Fisher will be paid $25,000 under a reorganization, the source said. A new post will be created — picking up the bulk of the difference between the old and the new chairman's salary — to handle the day-to-day operation of authority facilities.

Court Okays Spring Borrowing

A taxpayer's contention that the $3.7 billion in so-called spring borrowing by the state was illegal was rejected by the state's highest court. Leon Wein of Brooklyn sought to bar the state from issuing further tax and revenue anticipation notes until it achieved a "balanced budget."

The Court of Appeals ruled unanimously that Wein failed to prove that the 1976-77 state budget, from the outset, had not been balanced as is required by the state constitution. Investors and state officials were watching the case because the state must soon borrow nearly $4 billion to finance state operations until tax revenues are collected later in the 1977-78 state year.

Park Agency Constitutional

The state Court of Appeals unanimously upheld the constitutionality of the Adirondack Park Agency, which supervises land-use planning in over one-fifth of the state. The high court rejected challenges by Wambat Realty Corp., which owns 2,224 acres in the Clinton County town of Black Brook, and the town itself to the legislation which created the agency in 1973. The court said the agency had the authority to veto Wambat's plan to build a project known as Valmont Village on its land within the 6-million-acre park.

State Unemployment Up

Boosted by usual seasonal factors, unemployment rose to 10.4 per cent in the state in February, up from 10.2 per cent the previous month, the Labor Department said. Unemployment rose in nearly all metropolitan areas outside New York City, where unemployment fell slightly due to spring hiring in the garment factories, officials said.

Seasonal cutbacks in hard-goods manufacturing, trade and construction combined with severe weather to swell jobless rolls upstate and on Long Island.

The same seasonal influences also resulted in an increase of 5,700 in the total working force, bringing employment to 6,776,200. Total joblessness rose to 783,900, about 15,300 higher than January, but 60,800 lower than February 1976.

CSEA Reopener Dispute

Hearings on a wage reopener dispute between the state and the Civil Service Employees Association will begin April 18 — the same day the CSEA has threatened to strike. Co-chairmen of a bipartisan legislative committee asked the union to "delay any action pending the meeting."

Noting that the negotiators were expected in Albany Tuesday to consider the request, a union spokesman said, "Frankly, we had hoped the legislative committee would have acted a little earlier than that. I'm sure the negotiators will give the request the kind of consideration it deserves, but, at this moment, we are going ahead on the basis of the 18th," as a strike deadline.

FRIDAY'S PASTOR Conform - Or Be Transformed?

("Friday's Pastor" is a new feature on The Freeman editorial page. Each Friday this column will be contributed by an area minister or rabbi through the cooperation of the Kingston Area Council of Churches. —Editor)

Most people in the world tend to be "middle-of-the-roads." It is comfortable. Few of us like to venture into the extremes. And so we go along with the "middle-of-the-road" crowd. When we believe the majority of those around us to be right, it is easy to do what is right. We know that people will support us. We feel that we are in step with those around us. We don't feel the need of any special strength from God.

Occasionally, our religious faith reminds us that the majority of society around us can be wrong. It is at this point, when the importance of our faith in our life is put to the test, that our knees get weak. We want so much to conform to the crowd, or at least keep silent. We frantically search our faith for strength to stand alone and we wonder if it is worth it to be faithful to what we have said we believe.

During the season of Lent, we remember how Christ stood alone against the majority of His day. He stood along through personal abuse, ridicule, and treachery. He not only stood alone, he died alone.

Yes, we remember this, but simply remembering the courage of Christ is not enough to help us when we are struggling to stand up against the majority. WE need to pray for the strength and conscience that kept Christ faithful to His calling. We need to pray for the same dedication and devotion to mission. We need to pray for the same power...and then we need to do more! We need to dare to trust God that He will give us these gifts and then jump inot life with both feet. We need to risk losing the support of the majority, that we might gain the peace of God that passes understanding. We have been called by God to be the salt of the earth, the conscience of society. We are not to conform to the crowd, but to be transformed by his gracious gifts.

BOCES Students Are Wronged

DearEditor:
Recently there have been many articles pertaining to the Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES) and the educational programs they provide. In the articles they talk of "special education for mentally handicapped children."

I attend Ulster County BOCES and I know what it represents. I feel that through these articles you lead the public and especially the students to believe that BOCES is only fit or capable to teach mentally handicapped students.

I know that this is true because I am downgraded by peers, teachers (high school) and job employers repeatedly. I wish that somehow through the media the public could understand that BOCES Vocational School contains a few special education classes for the handicapped and over 20 specialized vocational courses for physically and mentally stable students throughout Ulster County. There are Adult Education classes as well.

This is not meant to downgrade your articles, it is just to point out that your perspective was not large enough to explain or fully allow the public to understand what BOCES really is. If there is any problem I would be happy to try and set up a fully explanatory tour of our building and its educational courses.

Firemen Saved Woodstock Firm

Dear Editor:
Woodstock is a many splendored town! The reasons for living here are varied, and people often go to extraordinary lengths to find ways to stay here. Mostly, it's a sophisticated town, and its particular attributes are often unique. After most of a lifetime here it is a surprise to find a new and vital quality of enormous importance.

Last week we had a fire at our business, Simuloids. Although my husband is a volunteer fireman, I had never personally experienced the magnitude of the value of our fire department. An industrial fire represents many unknowns; it takes enormous courage, I think, to enter a building containing curious combustibles and extinguish a fire when the flames are already engulfing the roof. But our fire department did indeed save Simuloids from enormous loss. It kept the fire from spreading, it actually saved the building, and even its interior equipment!

I am overwhelmed by the selfless devotion of the men and women firefighters of Woodstock who would give so bravely and intelligently that they could save what certainly seemed doomed.

The work can go in our shop, jobs are not interrupted, our business is not jeopardized, and not only because of the firefighters' superb job, but within hours people had arrived to assess the damage, to begin rewiring, to pull down, clear out, and put up. And maybe best of all the people who extended such generosity — the people who work at our shop, the friends, an offer from Rotron, always extraordinarily generous to our small company, to help in any way, and our own ambulance squad — again, my husband, Kevin, is an active member — sent a work party to help in the clearing and rebuilding.

It was a building raising — a rearing. But for us it is a renewal of life here in the Woodstock that means so much to us.

The Purpose of Womankind

Dear Editor:
Our good Lord made woman for a purpose, not to be man's competitor but his partner in producing future generations. Today, under Civil Rights Commission, we see heads of family being replaced by women to equalize the ratio. Birth rate this past year was the lowest on record, while unmarried couples living together has increased 500 per cent for those under 45 years old, and 100 per cent for those over.

Pornography in sex magazines, movies and television is scandalizing youth in its entry into the home. Our good Lord has warned mankind of the bleak future for those who indulge on children.

Today's economy reflects record prices and profits. A roll back is necessary, along with price and wage controls to protect the public. Jobs could be created, by encouraging new industries with tax concessions and loans, thereby regaining markets lost to foreign competition.

Forced mixing of races is against the natural law. Today, blacks want the white race out of Africa, their homeland. In America, blacks have segregated in large cities causing deterioration due to crimes, unemployment, housing and continued government spending. Abolish all civil rights commissions, since rationing of humans does not apply to mankind, but to the good Lord who created them.

To spread employment for those needing work, restrictions should be imposed on married women whose spouse has sufficient income.

More High-Rise Nonsense

WASHINGTON - The other night television newswatchers could see Detroit Mayor Coleman Young cut the ribbon on the world's highest hotel. This edifice is part of a tremendously expensive downtown skyscraper complex which Mayor Young, Henry Ford and other well-intentioned leaders hope will save Detroit.

It's a nonsensical idea. If multi-billion dollar investments in high-rise buildings can save a city, why is New York going down the drain? As often as not high-rise development adds nothing to a city but higher costs and more congestion without returning a commensurate volume of jobs for city residents or taxes for the city treasury. With the fuel costs rising, these opulent energy users will incur even greater competitive disadvantages to other kinds of construction in other locations. That's why it's been suggested that, with the cemeteries using too much valuable farm land, Manhattan's tall buildings might be converted into high-rise mausoleums since stiff needs neither heating nor air-conditioning. The borough then would have its name changed to the Isle of the Dead, a more appropriate designation anyway.

Twenty-five years of playing around with massive high-rise developments in the downtown hearts of American cities show that they don't do what their backers claim for them: attract new capital and new residents. Often it is the other way, as with a city like San Francisco which seems to be in some danger of Manhattanification. It was San Francisco's low-rise charm, its people, its neighborhoods, its delightful Victorian domestic architecture that made it a place where high-rise developers wanted to erect their corporate towers. Have you ever heard of a city which began with skyscrapers? Quite the contrary. If you analogize the city to a forest, then the high-rise buildings are the climax growth, the last and the slowest vegetation to appear, and like the great oaks they ultimately kill off much of the lesser forms of vegetation around them.

If there are no instances of high-rise construction stimulating other forms of private city investment, there are a number of examples of urban neighborhoods being rehabilitated, one house at a time, by owner-occupiers or small-scale entrepreneurs. In Washington, D.C., a city with a reviving central core, this process has accelerated to the point that a move is on to enact legislation to penalize speculators who buy up property in old neighborhoods, hold it for a day, a month or a year, and then sell it at much more than they paid for it.

It's characteristic of the governmental mentality found here that, when every other city in the Northeast and Midwest is crying out for investment, in Washington they debate ways to discourage it. The reasons that the social workers and liberal politicians want to pass anti-speculation laws are praiseworthy: low-income, all-black neighborhoods are being busted by higher income, middle-class persons who are mostly but by no means exclusively white.

There is no room for the displaced; there is no relocation program. To a degree the reason is that the same liberal politicians and social workers have never been able to run a successful relocation or public housing program. The fault doesn't lie solely with them, but to agree with their anti-speculation solution is to think you can freeze the ownership and tenant patterns as they are.

Loose Ends on the Open Road

There is nothing like a nice long drive to shatter the nervous system. If God had intended us to go fast he'd have given us wheels. Kelly and I had to do some visiting so, rather than wreck our Granada, we decided to total Dr. Lester Keiser's big Thunderbird.

In the area of Broward County, Florida, the important thing is not finding the highway, but getting out of town — with or without St. Jude. The area is full of retired crooks who hide under the steering wheel and hit the accelerator. And anything that moves.

Driving in Florida is like skimming over a swampy pool table. We moved up the turnpike at 57 miles per hour on automatic cruise control. It appears to be a safe speed at first, but as the sun loafs across the sky, it becomes slower and slower.

Everyone passed us. This included black bugs. The stereo music was sentimental, but we lost station after station in shrill shrieks. Our conversation was desultory, like 10 minutes of how much our dog will miss us and four minutes of why she had to pick a time like this for needlepoint.

I never heard of Canoe Creek, Florida. We stopped there for lunch. Within me there is an abysmal suspicion about eating in strange places. There is no stranger place than Canoe Creek.

When it comes to food, I am an eye-and-nose man. If it appears to be appetizing, and it smells good, I will eat it. So I played safe and ordered bacon and eggs and toast. "Sorry, we don't have no bacon. We have ham." "Okay, sunnyside up and a slice of ham." "We on'ey have scrambled eggs." "Fine. Don't butter the toast."

I never trust Southern cooking. Southern cooking is what made the Confederate Army superb. Those soldiers fought their way north. I got scrambled eggs with chunks of ham stirred inside and a helping of grits which seeped into the eggs.

"Tell me," I said to Kelly, "am I about to eat this or have I?" My wife has a stomach like a Sherman tank. She can eat creamed tripe a la fried mackerel.

We got back on the road and got off at Wildwood, Fla. She studied the highway ticket and said, "Here. It's $2.40." I stopped and handed it up to a nice fat lady.

"That'll be $4.80," she said. I pointed. "It says $2.40." She wagged her jolly chins. "You're traveling first-class," she said, pointing at Keiser's Thunderbird. "What's $2.40?" I said. "If you drive up to the booth in a boat," she said.

We drove on forever, to Tallahassee. There, our lovely Kathleen is studying for her Master's degree in social work. One of her best studies is me. It is my blood that gives her the small apartment and the green Mustang.

We took her to dinner, usurped her bed, walked the campus of Florida State University and met her friends. After two days Kelly and I tired of having to remain mute while she studied. We left to visit the Bill Scanlons at Hilton Head, South Carolina.

Never take 824 through Georgia. General Sherman bypassed it. As you approach each of several hundred towns, the sign says: "55," then "40," then "30." The only thing that appeared to be alive was the cops.

Kelly called out the numbers. "Slow to 40 right now. Easy, 30." We almost made it to Hilton Head. There is a scar on the road called Bluffton, S.C.

"Still 55," she said. "Ho, down to 40." I braked down and made a left turn. My rear-view mirror was full of dome lights. I stopped. A tall black policeman got out. I got out. He was dignified and cool.

"I ain't gonna tag you for not stopping at the stop light," he said. "What stop light?" I said. "Oh," he said pointing, "it's back there all right. See them trees? There's a little ol' pole there."

"I'm gonna get you for doing 42 in a 30-mile zone." He examined my license and began to write on the hood of his car. "Could I ask you," I said timidly, "where the 30-mile zone is? My wife and I saw a 40."

"That's right," he said kindly. "First you have the 55 coming into Bluffton, then the 40, and right behind it, if you look sharp, a 30." I paid $15.

At the hotel, I was griping. The bellboy laughed. "I know," he said. "You got caught in Bluffton doing 42 in a 30-mile area." "How do you know?" I said, amazed. "They get everybody that way."

We visited the Scanlons. Mandy was feeling poorly. "Some cops you have," I said. She burst into laughter. "Not you," she giggled. "You paid for doing 42? My God. Welcome to the club."

Driving is for the birds. Well, not quite. That's flying...

Muslim Siege Might Have Been Avoided

WASHINGTON — The Hanafi Muslim siege that traumatized Washington last month might have been averted. Shortly before the harrowing event, Treasury agents were stopped from raiding Hanafi headquarters.

They wanted to search the hangout for illegal firearms. They would have found the arsenal, of course, that the Muslim fanatics later used to terrorize 134 hostages.

Ironically, the raid was blocked by the U.S. Attorney's office over the incident that later drove the Hanafi Muslims to desperation. Four years ago, a squad of rival Black Muslims burst into the Hanafi headquarters and brutally slaughtered seven members of the sect, including five of leader Hamaas Abdul Khaalis' children.

The Justice Dept. sent five Black Muslims to prison for the crime. But Khaalis wasn't satisfied; he wanted eye-for-eye retribution.

Agents of the Treasury's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, meanwhile, learned that Khaalis' son-in-law, Abdul Aziz, illegally possessed a shotgun, rifle and revolver inside the heavily guarded Hanafi compound. The agents decided to seize the illegal weapons and to arrest Aziz on felony weapons charges.

But the U.S. Attorney's office quietly requested the Treasury agents to back off. There were still some loose ends in the case against the murderers of Khaalis' children. The government attorneys wanted a woman in the Hanafi household to testify in court.

Knowing of Khaalis' bitter attitude and erratic temper, they feared he would never let the woman testify after his headquarters was raided. So they persuaded the reluctant Treasury agents to call off the raid.

Not long afterward, the brooding Khaalis decided the government had not done enough to avenge the murder of his five children. He led his Hanafi commandos in their spectacular assault. They shot and bludgeoned their way into three Washington buildings and held 134 hostages for two tense days.

Belatedly, Washington police confiscated the weapons that the Treasury agents presumably would have found. At this writing, no lawmen have yet raided the Hanafi hangout to find out what other weapons may be stashed there.

But the T-men have been asked to trace the seized weapons, which have provided them with leads to five potential criminal cases.

Footnote: A spokesman for the U.S. Attorney's office acknowledged to our associate Jack Mitchell that the Treasury agents had been asked to hold off arresting Aziz and seizing the illegal weapons. The spokesman explained that the arrest might have hurt the prosecution of the controversial Hanafi murder case.

A LA JAMES BOND — Czechoslovakia's No. 4 man in Washington, Anatol Demucky, started off for Florida the other day in his 1971 Comet. He detected a strange whizzing sound and pulled into a service station to find out what was wrong.

The mechanics placed the car on a lift and inspected the underbelly. They spotted a black object attached to the gas tank. The device somewhat resembled a transistor radio with an antenna hanging from it.

Alarmed, the mechanic summoned the Washington, D.C., police, who called in the bomb squad. The device turned out to be a battery-operated homing device, suitable for tracking suspicious vehicles.

The Czechoslovakian embassy expressed its "deep concern" to the State Dept. about the incident. Whoever planted the device on Demucky's car, meanwhile, is keeping quiet. One clue: It's the sort of homing gadget that the FBI has used in the past to monitor the movements of suspected spies, although an FBI spokesman denied "any knowledge" of the affair.

WHO'S NEWS — Budget boss Bert Lance, an amiable, Andy Griffith type, has made himself easily accessible to the press. He has even been known to answer his own telephone. But behind the scenes, his subordinateS must go through a strange rigmarole to see him. First they must submit a written memo explaining what they want to discuss with him. The request must also contain a complete list of all others who will be present. And two telephone numbers must be listed for each person wishing to be ushered into Lance's presence.

— Turner B. Shelton, probably the worst ambassador of the Nixon era, has also been the most persistent. The State Dept. brought him back from Nicaragua after a disgraceful performance there. But he called on powerful congressional friends, who helped him get reappointed as ambassador to the Bahamas. Both the Senate and the Bahamas turned him down. He continued to seek appointments to Bermuda, then to Casablanca. In the end, he had to settle for a position as "diplomat-in-residence" at the Navy War College in Newport, R.I. Now the Carter administration has quietly kicked him out.

DEAR ABBY

She's Attracted by Man Old Enough to Be her Father

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible to find out a person's name and address if you have his automobile license number? Or will you have to answer a lot of questions first?

You see, I was kind of wandering around a shopping center during my lunch break when a beautiful older man caught my eye. He went into a jewelry store and I followed him. I was drawn to him like a magnet. He was shopping for an anniversary gift for his wife, and I offered to help him select something. We kidded around and he said he had a daughter in college about my age.

Abby, you're going to think I'm crazy, but I have never met a man who attracted me the way this one did. I can't get him out of my mind. I don't even know his name, but I walked him to his car and took down his license number. I've just got to see him again! I'm 22 and believe me, this was love at first sight. I even dream about him. Can you help me?

—IN A DAZE IN MINNE-

APOLIS

DEAR IN: It's possible to find out a person's name if you have his license number in Minnesota, but you will have to answer a lot of questions first, so I don't recommend trying. The magnetism you experienced is "physical attraction," and it happens every day. For your sake (and his) forget him, dear.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the woman who had cancer and some of her friends avoided contact with her because they thought she was "contaminated and contagious" was sad indeed. May I add a little to what I have learned since working with The American Diabetes Association?

This malfunction (it is not really a disease) is also badly misunderstood. One woman called our office to ask where she should go for a V.D. test! Asked if she associated diabetes with venereal disease, she replied, "Why, yes, of course."

Another woman, whose husband is diabetic had refused to share a bed with him for years. (She feared contagion.)

Since 1900, diabetes has risen from 13th to third place as a killer (heart is first, cancer second) and is the leading cause of new cases of blindness and amputations of extremities.

Abby, please urge your readers to learn more about diabetes in order to better understand the people who suffer from it.—CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: I will. For more information write to The American Diabetes Association, 1 West 48th Street, New York, New York 10020. They will direct you to the affiliate nearest you where free brochures are available.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's ex-wife and children live in another city. When he visits them, he sleeps at his ex-wife's house, in a separate bedroom. His ex is unmarried, and although he insists that their relationship is now platonic, I feel insecure and uncomfortable.

When I met my husband he was already divorced and insisted he wanted nothing more to do with his ex-wife. Now when he visits her he goes on picnics with her and the children, and takes them to dinner, just like old times.

I know my husband loves me, but this situation bugs me. He has asked me to accompany him on those trips and try to be friends with his ex-wife. I refuse to go. Am I being unreasonable?—CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Yes. Perhaps if you want, you'd no longer feel insecure and uncomfortable. It's worth a try.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope.

Talk of the Town

BOCES Sets Annual Meeting

PORT EWEN—The Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services will hold its annual meeting Monday, April 4, 8 p.m., at the Port Ewen Occupational Education Center, Rt. 9W, Port Ewen.

Fish Dinner At Baptist Church

KINGSTON—A fish dinner will be served at noon Saturday, April 2, at the New Central Baptist Church, 229 East Strand, sponsored by the Trustee Board. Mrs. John McPhail is chairperson.

A Warm Welcome for Fishermen

ARKVILLE—Local fishermen are invited to warm their feet and hands the opening weekend of the fishing season by visiting The Erpt Catskill Cultural Center in Arkville for free coffee and donuts. This month the Center is continuing its exhibit on the "Sportsman." Hours are Thursday, 7 to 9 p.m., Friday, 1-5, 7:30 to 10 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, 1 to 5 p.m.

Meeting Night Announced

KINGSTON—Parents Without Partners 383, Kingston Chapter, meets each month on the last Friday, 8:15 p.m., at the Heritage Savings Bank, Wall Street. Various activities such as roller skating, bowling, pizza parties are planned for children, teenagers and for its own members. The local chapter is affiliated with the international non-profit, non-sectarian organization which is educational and devoted to the welfare and interests of single parents and their children. The organization was incorporated in the State of New York in March 1968, and now has chapters in every state, Canada and Australia. Information concerning the local group may be obtained from Carl McClearn.

Heyday Starts Tomorrow

The fourth annual Horticultural Heyday, with 34 gardening experts from the east coast region, opens at 8 a.m. Saturday at Ulster County Community College. Professors from Cornell, Rutgers, the Universities of Connecticut, Massachusetts and Vermont will join authorities from Botanical Gardens and Arboretums, as well as Cooperative Extension specialists to deliver lectures, demonstrations, workshops and clinics on growing flowers, fruits and vegetables, houseplants and landscaping. The first events are scheduled for 8:30 o'clock. Interested persons will be able to purchase admission tickets in the lobby of John Vanderlyn Hall.

Interesting Volumes Offered

KINGSTON—Several hundred newly-donated books will be offered for sale at the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Book Sale Saturday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., at the Holy Cross Church Parish Hall, 30 Pine Grove Ave. Illustrated copies of Christopher Morley's "The Haunted Bookshop" and "Parnassus on Wheels," in good condition; a 25-volume set of orations from Homer to McKinley, 24 volumes of Balzac, a run of the German language literary magazine, "Universitas," and a number of paperbacks on famous artists are included. Those who donate a box of books or more up to and including the day of the sale, April 2, will receive two free tickets to the next Hudson Valley Philharmonic symphony concert. Books may be brought to the parish hall or arrangements for collections may be made with Lowell Thing.

It's Entertainment

Musical Program at Earthworks

RHINEBECK—The Pumpkin Hook Old-Time Orchestra brings its unique sound of music to Earthworks tonight and Saturday, 8 to 11 p.m. Contradance music is the specialty but the orchestra also has a wide range of songs and tunes from Ireland, Canada, Appalachia and New England.

The string band's members include Jerry Jenkins who plays pennywhistle, recorders, dulcimer and Morris pipe; George Wilson and Frank Orsini, fiddlers; and Joan Pelton, guitarist, pianist and singer. Jenkins is an alumnus of the Canterbury Orchestra, probably the best-known contradance band in New England; Joan Pelton was formerly with Fennig's All-Stars; and Orsini has played with the Blind Rock Ramblers, Sweet Dixie, Down City Ramblers and has recorded with Don McLean. Because of the limited seating space, reservations are necessary. Admission is $3.

'Romeo and Juliet' by Masquers

POUGHKEEPSIE—William Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet," presented by the Dutchess Community College Masquers Guild, is playing tonight and Saturday, 8 p.m., at the Dutchess Hall Theater, Dutchess Community College. The play will also be given at the Bardavon 1869 Opera House Wednesday through Saturday, April 6-9, 8 p.m.

The play is part of the college's annual Festival of Performing Arts which continues through May with special films, musicals and cultural activities. During the festival, Hudson Gallery will display two different shows: the Faculty Art Show, April 6 to May 1; and a special Youth Show sponsored by the Dutchess County Art Association from May 2 to June 3. The Pine Groves Debates, a popular forensic series of Lincoln—Douglas debates, Oral Interpretation and Comic Book Readings will take place the week of May 9-13. A detailed schedule of events may be obtained from the Office of Community Services, Dutchess Community College, Poughkeepsie.

Free Movies Move

WOODSTOCK—The Monday Night Film Festival has been such a success that all of the people cannot be accommodated, according to Bob Murphy who, with his wife, organized the free film festival at the Woodstock Library this winter. Through April and May the films will be shown at the Woodstock Town Hall, 7:30 p.m.

The April schedule includes: "La Belle Americaine," a French film about a working man who gets an American car, English subtitles, Robert D'herby stars, April 4; "Flash Gordon Conquers the Universe," 12 episodes of the original Flash Gordon science fiction series condensed into a feature version with Buster Crabbe, April 11; "This Sporting Life," screenplay by David Storey, about the motives and character of a professional athlete, starring Richard Harris, Rachel Roberts, April 18; "Zorba the Greek," based on a novel by Niko Kazantzakis and starring Anthony Quinn, Alan Bates and Irene Papas, April 25. All films are free to the public.

Arts Council Sponsors Play

SAUGERTIES—Saugerties Arts Council will sponsor a performance of "That Championship Season" at the Saugerties High School auditorium Sunday, April 3, 8 p.m. Continuing its program of bringing live drama to Saugerties audiences, the council chose the critically-acclaimed Performing Arts of Woodstock production of the award-winning drama. The play, which concerns the reunion of four basketball players and their coach on the 20th anniversary of their winning the state high school basketball championship, is suggested for mature audiences. Tickets are on sale in Saugerties at The Fancy Flea, Market Street; and The Work of Art, corner of Hill and Partition Streets; with special rates for senior citizens high school students and groups.

Saratoga Concerts

SARATOGA SPRINGS—Two of the important concerts to be presented at the summer Saratoga Festival this year are a performance of Victor Herbert's "Naughty Marietta" by the Manhattan Savoyards, June 22 and 23; and Earl Wild, pianist, as soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra, Aug. 20. The orchestra will play an all Russian program and Wild will perform Rachmaninoff's Concerto No. 2 in C Minor. Information regarding the discount series for the operetta and other SPAC specials may be obtained by writing or calling the Saratoga Performing Arts Center, Saratoga Springs, N.Y. 12866.

All About Indians

The Black Bear Indian Troup, comprised of members of the Mohawk tribe in New York State, gave a performance recently at a special assembly at the Anna Devine School in Rifton. Colorful, authentic Indian costumes and customs, and Indian folklore and history were explained, as well as various Indian dances in which the students participated. The event was sponsored by the Rifton School Auxiliary.

Kammerspiel Receives $400 Donation

SAUGERTIES—A contribution of $400 was presented to Kammerspiel of Saugerties by David Bright, an employee of IBM, Kingston, who applied for and was granted the funds through IBM's Fund for Community Service Program. This donation will supplement the cost of the Youth Recital Series.

Last fall, 70 Ulster County Music Teachers were notified of Kammerspiel's plans to conduct Saturday morning Youth Recitals, where promising young music students perform for audiences of young people. These students first participate in auditions before a panel of professional musicians. If they are accepted they will present a program of classical music on a scheduled Saturday morning. Kammerspiel has held four Youth Recitals to date and they have been well accepted. The donation from IBM will help defray the costs of these programs and to build the Lending Library which is now available at Kammerspiel.

Appearing at Kammerspiel this Saturday morning in their first public performance are two 13-year-old music students of Sal Oliveri of Saugerties. Playing solo music by Faure, Schumann and Mozart will be Georgette Oliveri, flute; and Pamela Vogel, clarinet. Both are in the eighth grade at Saugerties High School. They will present duets by Rameau and Keopke and a trio with piano by Bach.

An added feature of this program will be a Profile of Beethoven in His Youth presented by Beatrice Bright, music director of Kammerspiel.

Admission is 50 cents per student and no more than $1.50 per family. Kammerspiel is the stone house located on Rt. 32 just north of the Saugerties Thruway Exit, southbound. The recital this Saturday morning will start at 10:30 o'clock.

Open House, Registration Set at Montessori School

KINGSTON—The Montessori School of Kingston, located at the Free Methodist Church, Thomas Avenue, Elmendorf Heights, is holding open house and registration for summer and fall Monday, April 4, from 7 to 9 p.m. All interested parents of children between the ages of two-and-half and six years are invited.

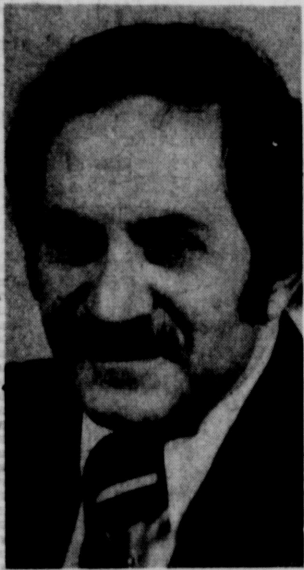

Nasim Mallick, directress of the non-sectarian nursery and kindergarten program, holds a Montessori Primary Teacher's Diploma from the American Montessori Society and a teaching certificate from the State of New York. The school offers two independent sessions daily; parent participation is not required, and car pools are encouraged.

Montessori, the famous Italian educationist, advocated a comprehensive approach to education emphasizing the whole child. A carefully prepared environment containing various educational materials designed by Montessori is coupled with a curriculum consisting of sensori-motor and perceptual activities, reading and number skills, arts and crafts, music, science experiments, practical life activities, and small and large muscle activities.

Complete information may be obtained at the school or evenings from Miss Mallick at her home in New Paltz.

'Computing a Space Flight' To Be DAR Luncheon Topic

Michael M. Kutcher

KINGSTON—Michael Kutcher, technical advisor to the Manufacturing Engineering manager of the IBM Corporation, Poughkeepsie, will be the guest speaker at the annual Spring Luncheon of Wiltwyck and Saugerties Chapters, Daughters of the American Revolution, Monday, April 4, 1 p.m., at the Colonade Restaurant. The topic for his slide presentation talk will be "Computing a Space Flight."

Kutcher has had 25 years of industrial experience during which time he was awarded several patents. He received an IBM outstanding contribution award and president's award; and is interested in "Robotics" and "The Automatic Factory." He is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers, senior member of Society of Manufacturing Engineers, manufacturing technology group, and chairman of Technology Forecasting and Assessment, and the IEEE Committee on Social Implications of Technology.

Mrs. C. B. King, first vice regent of Wiltwyck Chapter, is in charge of arrangements for the luncheon and Mrs. Wilfred Robinson, regent, will preside.

Students Win DAR Awards

LEXINGTON—Two students at Ontario Central School are recipients of State DAR District Awards of $5 for winning essays in the American History Month Contest. Essays were submitted by Johannes Hardenbergh Chapter of Lexington. Mrs. Leland Austin was essay chairman. The essayists were winners in District III comprising 17 chapters in six counties.

Students are Kerry Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murray of Woodstock, seventh grade. Her essay was "The Battle that Changed America." Paul Weigel, son of Mrs. Ann Weigel of Woodstock, is an eighth grade student. His essay was entitled "Bon Homme Richard Vs. Serapis."

Our 55th Year

Annual Dayline Trip Slated

WESTWOOD, N.J.—Hudson River Dayline enthusiasts are being notified of a planned reunion, June 11, when the group will board the steamer at Pier 81 at the foot of West 41st St., New York City, 10 a.m., to sail up river. The trip will be due at Bear Mountain at 12:30 p.m. on the way north; returning at 4:20 p.m. and ending the trip at West 41st St. at 7 o'clock.

The first reunion was held in 1968 and since that time a dayline trip has been arranged annually except for 1975. G.V.W. Kelly of 101 President Road, Westwood, N.J. 07675, is chairman of this year's event. He requests advance notice from those planning to attend. However, those joining the group June 11 in New York or Bear Mountain will also be welcome.

Various steamboat organizations have been invited, and plans to save the Steamer Alexander Hamilton from the scrap yard will be discussed. She rests on a sand bar at Atlantic Highlands, N.J.

Wiretap Transcript Produced by Prosecutors

Hanafi Muslim Khaalis Goes To Jail — No Bond

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hamaas Abdul Khaalis said last month it was revenge he wanted when Hanafi Muslims seized three buildings and 134 hostages. Fresh threats of revenge have cost the religious leader his freedom.

Khaalis was jailed without bond Thursday after federal prosecutors produced a wiretap transcript allegedly quoting the bearded, middle-aged Muslim as saying he meant to kill 200 unidentified enemies.

Four other Hanafis, including Khaalis' son-in-law, Abdul Aziz, also were arrested on federal weapons charges, and an arsenal that included stiletos, chains and 13 guns was seized in raids on two suburban Maryland homes.

Federal prosecutors said Khaalis threatened new violence when his son-in-law complained of a Customs search upon returning from Saudi Arabia.

Khaalis had been free on his recognizance as part of a deal that ended the March 9-11 siege in which three downtown locations were seized, one reporter killed, and eight of 134 hostages wounded.

Khaalis' 11 accomplices were either jailed immediately after the siege or after court hearings. Khaalis was in court for what he thought would be a routine preliminary hearing when federal prosecutors produced the wiretap transcript.

His son-in-law, who accompanied him to the District of Columbia Superior Court hearing, was arrested agents of the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

Within hours of the hearing, ATF agents armed with search warrants arrived at homes in the Washington suburbs of Adelphi and Wheaton, Md. Three other Hanafis arriving as the search in Adelphi progressed were arrested by county police.

Authorities seized Timothy Parker, 26, of Washington, Steven Wright, 28, of Wheaton, and Gilbert DiFranza, 29, of Silver Spring, Md., and charged them with carrying weapons including a shotgun, bayonet, machete, stiletto, and lengths of chain.

An ATF spokesman said the two locations yielded a total of 13 firearms of various types plus ammunition — reportedly about 1,000 rounds.

The transcript that led to Khaalis' jailing was from a court-approved wiretap authorities placed on his telephone, presumably at the Hanafis' northwest Washington headquarters.

U.S. Attorney Earl Silbert quoted Khaalis as telling Aziz Tuesday: "I'll kill all 200 people today. I'll let some people go."

Judge Harold H. Green said the threat alone might not have been enough to revoke Khaalis' personal recognizance bond. "But these threats do not stand alone," he said. "I cannot regard them as simply idle words."

There was no indication whom Khaalis was threatening, but in a second

A preliminary hearing becomes a rude awakening.

tapped conversation, he was quoted: "They are going to pay in blood for it. I'm going to kill somebody. And they're going to die for what they did."

The siege was part of a vendetta against rival black Muslims, some of whose followers murdered seven Hanafi women and children in 1973.

The District Building, Washington's city hall; the B'nai B'rith headquarters; and an Islamic center on Embassy Row were seized in the two days of violence which ended when dramatic negotiations between the Hanafis and Moslem ambassadors from Egypt, Pakistan and Iran produced a settlement.

FINAL AMENDMENT TO THE NEW YORK STATE SOCIAL SERVICES PLAN FOR 1976-1977

Title XX of The Federal Social Security Act

On March 1, 1977 the New York State Department of Social Services published a proposed amendment to the State's Title XX Plan. The Department accepted public comment for the following 30 days. Because of the volume of comment on the Day Care Fee Schedule, the Department is delaying finalization of that proposed change to allow time to review and analyze the comments before announcing a final policy decision.

The following changes are to be effective immediately: (1) Revision of the definition of Social Group Services for Senior Citizens; (2) Establishment of Group Eligibility determination for Social Group Services for Senior Citizens; (3) Revision of the definition of Protective Services for Children; and (4) Revision of the definition of Protective Services for Adults.

Explanation of Amendment

Revised Definition of Social Group Services for Senior Citizens: The definition of social group services for senior citizens has been expanded to more accurately reflect the activities of senior citizen centers. The definition of this service has been amended to read as follows:

"Those services provided to older adults, through specialized community facilities which serve as focal points for their concerns, needs and interests for such multiple purposes as combating isolation, preventing or delaying physical and mental deterioration, diminishing the effects of loss of role and status, providing centralized accessibility to services and enabling the aged to remain in their homes or community for as long as possible. Services available in these centers may include any or all of the following: information and referral, nutrition (congregate meals), counseling, employment counseling, recreation and educational programs, transportation to and from user's home and facilities, health maintenance services, community service volunteer opportunities, leadership development, facilitation of other agencies' services, advocacy, and outreach."

Public Comment: Comments were favorable to the expansion of the definition of social group services for senior citizens. The only change suggested, which the Department has incorporated in the final amendment, was the addition of a minor phrase to allow for greater flexibility in the provision of service components. "Services available in these centers include:" was changed to "Services available in these centers may include any or all of the following."

Establishment of Group Eligibility Determination for Social Group Services for Senior Citizens: As a result of the passage of P.L. 94-401, in September 1976, New York State has the option to select services that will be covered by group eligibility, except for day care services for non-migrant children. Group eligibility refers to determination of eligibility for social services on a group basis, dependent upon characteristics such as geographic area in which the service will be provided, nature of service, conditions of eligibility other than income, etc. Under P.L. 94-401, group eligibility may be used only when the State can demonstrate that substantially all of the recipients of a service have monthly family gross incomes not exceeding 90 percent of the State median income adjusted for family size. The State has determined that social group services for senior citizens are appropriate for application of "group eligibility" retroactive to October 1, 1975. The criterion for "group eligibility" is that each participant shall be at least 60 years of age.

The geographic area for this service is the State, with optional provision allowed in each social services district. Social group services for senior citizens was selected for "group eligibility" because it has been demonstrated that this group generally has homogeneous income characteristics and would readily meet the criterion established by the Federal Government for group eligibility determination.

Public Comment: Since no substantive comments were received either supporting or opposing the adoption of group eligibility, no changes have been made in the final amendment.

Revised Definition of Protective Services for Children: A new sub-paragraph (i) was added to the definition of protective services for children to read as follows: "Providing directly or arranging for, either through purchase or referral, the provision of day care or homemaker services for a period of up to six months following the receipt of a report by the New York State Child Abuse and Maltreatment Register and a determination of programmatic need for such service, based upon investigation of the report."

Additionally, the following statement replaced current wording under "Funding Under Other Programs:" After expiration of the six month period for provision of related supportive services as a protective service for children, related supportive services may be provided under their respective CASSPP definitions if continuing programmatic need and financial eligibility are established."

Public Comment: Since no substantive comments were received either supporting or opposing the proposed revised definition, no changes have been made in the final amendment.

Revised Definition of Protective Services for Adults: The definition of protective services for adults has been amended by adding a sub-paragraph (j) to the service activities to read as follows: "Providing homemaker and housekeeper/chose services to meet the goal of protection for adults who demonstrate specific functional deficits. The provision of such services is to be limited to 60 days when provided without regard to financial criteria and only when efforts to secure funding from the client or other resources have failed."

An addition to the service activities was made because of the need to enlarge on the local social services department's capacity to alleviate crisis situations by providing concrete help to enable incapacitated persons to remain in their own homes with the assistance of homemaker/housekeeper/chose services.

The requirement for exploration of the availability of other resources and the imposition of a time limit on service provision restricts any unnecessary expenditures, gives the local departments more latitude in meeting those emergencies which require immediate action, and permits time to initiate procedures necessary for more permanent, long-term planning.

As a result of this change, the sub-division entitled "Categories of Individuals Eligible Under Title XX" has been amended to read as follows: All individuals without regard to income, except as provided in item (j).

Public Comment: Since no substantive comments were received either supporting or opposing the revised definition, no changes have been made in the final amendment.

All public comments are available for review at the State Department of Social Services (address below).

Further explanation of these changes and copies of the amendment are available without charge at these addresses:

Kingman Hands the Mets an Ultimatum

By UPI

Dave Kingman, seeking to become the highest-paid .238 hitter in baseball history, has given the New York Mets an ultimatum:

"Sign me or trade me" by the April 6 start of the season is what Kingman, who hit 37 homers last season, told the New York club Thursday, adding "if I am not signed by opening day, I will not sign in 1977."

The Mets have offered Kingman a contract of about $200,000 a year, pretty close to what they are paying threetime Cy Young Award winner Tom Seaver, but Kingman wants about $3-million a season spread over five or six years. He says he'll play out his option if he doesn't reach such an agreement before opening day.

"I am trying to encourage them to sign me," Kingman said Thursday. "I am not the type of person who could play in New York without a contract. I just couldn't handle it."

"If they don't sign me now they will not be competitive with the 25 other clubs in the major leagues," Kingman added. "Up to now, they haven't been."

General Manager Joe McDonald indicated the Mets would trade Kingman rather than grant him the huge contract but also insisted they would rather have him play for them.

The New York Yankees, meanwhile, induced third baseman Graig Nettles to forget his plans to renegotiate a three-year $400,000 pact which he signed last July and signed first baseman Chris Chambliss to a homers, drove in 96 runs and smashed the pennant-winning homer against Kansas City in the third game of the American League playoffs, agreed to his new contract

$1-million five-year contract. Owner George Steinbrenner said there would be no extension of Nettles' current contract but that he would look into the possibility of helping the third baseman with tax problems created by Nettles' agreement.

Chambliss, who batted .293, hit 17 after lengthy negotiations. Yankees who remain unsigned are Dock Ellis, Oscar Gamble and Marty Perez.

Elsewhere around the camps: Wayne Simpson pitched a three-hitter for seven innings and won a job on the California roster as the Angels scored a 4-1 win over the San Diego Padres. Butch Hobson hit a two-run single and Bill Campbell starred in relief in the Boston Red Sox' 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Rusty Staub and John Wockenfuss had three hits each pacing the Detroit Tigers to a 10-4 triumph over the Toronto Blue Jays. Greg Luzinski's ninth-inning single drove in the winning run as the Philadelphia Phillies downed the Texas Rangers 6-5. Jorge Orta doubled and scored on Jim Spencer's single in the 11th inning giving the Chicago White Sox a 4-2 win over the Cincinnati Reds.

Rookie Jim Norris had four hits in the Cleveland Indians' 81 decision over the Oakland A's...Ken McMullen's three-run homer in the seventh inning lifted the Milwaukee Brewers to a 9-8 win over the San Francisco Giants...Dan Meyer singled home Glenn Abbott in the ninth inning as the Seattle Mariners downed the Chicago Cubs 5-4.

Fred Stanley drove in two runs with a sacrifice fly and a squeeze bunt as the Yankees beat the Atlanta Braves 4-3 for their third win in a row...Eric Rasmussen pitched six shutout innings, allowing four hits, leading the St. Louis Cardinals to a 2-1 win over the New York Mets. Rasmussen struck out five and walked none in his impressive outing.

Rabbits Run Ahead Of the GGO Pack

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — The $235,000 Greater Greensboro Open has gotten off to a start which in many ways is similar to this year's pro tour in general — with the newcomers setting the pace.

After Thursday's first round, the top names on the leader board were Andy Bean, Danny Edwards, George Burns and Bill Mallon. Edwards, who won his tour card in 1974, is the senior member of the leading foursome.

Meanwhile, many of the more familiar names to golf, including Johnny Miller and Tom Weiskopf, are well off the pace going into today's second round.

Andy Bean, who took home his first winner's check three weeks ago by capturing the Doral Open, had a five-underpar 67 in Thursday's first round to take a one-stroke lead over Edwards and Burns.

Mallon, who along with Burns and Edwards never has won, had to battle winds up to 25 miles per hour for a 69 over the 6,894-yard Forest Oaks Country Club Course.

Trailing the leaders at 70 were Hale Irwin, Butch Baird, and Larry Nelson. Defending champion Al Geiberger and Gary Player were at 71, along with five other golfers.

Weiskopf, a former GGO champion, was at 74 after the first round and Miller had a 76.

Bean attributed his play Thursday to the confidence gained with the Doral victory.

"I've gained a lot of control over myself," he said. "I had a birdie on the first hole, but then came right back with a bogey. But I've accepted the fact that I can keep going and make some more birdies."

Bean had seven birdies and two bogeys Thursday, sinking putts of 25 feet, 15 feet and 12 feet twice.

"After I won Doral that kind of eased some pressure on me," Bean said of his play Thursday. "I seem to play more at ease. You know you don't have to worry about qualifying and about making the cut. You always know you can play next week."

Bean credited the added confidence from the $40,000 win in the Doral for his performance.

The wind gusted up to 25 miles per hour at times during the day, but subsided a bit in the afternoon as Bean made the turn.

"I think it did die down a little bit," said Edwards, who had six birdies. "It was really whipping around out there when we started. The wind is really a funny thing. You have to visualize your shots, and you have to use the right club. I think it requires a little more concentration."

The three leaders all played the afternoon round, while only seven golfers in the morning round had scores under par.

Burns said his five-birdie round was his best of the year.

"I've been rather inconsistent this year," said Burns, who held the lead in the World Open at Pinehurst last September only to lose it to Ray Floyd in the final round.

While newcomers to the tour dominated the first round of play, some of the big names were well off the pace. Johnny Miller finished with a 76 and former GGO champion Tom Weiskopf had a 74. Graham Marsh, who won the Sea Pines Heritage Classic a week ago, had a 74. Masters champ Ray Floyd was in a large group at 73.

Defending champion Al Geiberger and Gary Player finished one-under par.

Irwin, Mallon and Baird played in the morning round and all agreed that the wind was a big factor.

"The wind is presenting a great deal of problems, especially with club selection," said Irwin.

Mallon attributed his success to a new $6 putter he bought the day before the tournament. "Thursday was the first time I've used the putter in a tournament," he said. "And talk about results. On the first hole I knocked one in from 15 feet, nothing unusual there. But on the next hole, darned if I didn't poke one in from 40 feet."

Sentimental favorite Al Geiberger finished one-under

Fishing Conditions Were Less Than Ideal

KINGSTON—Conditions that were less than ideal greeted fisherman Friday morning as the trout fishing season opened throughout New York State, and avid anglers broke out their equipment to try their luck.

Though the morning was pleasantly sunny, high winds along the Esopus Creek by Route 28 had the water running high, fast and muddy, causing sportsmen to bundle up like Eskimos for protection against the bone-chilling temperatures.

Conditions were a bit better where some catches were reported, specifically at the dividing weir along the Shokan Reservoir and in the Sawkill Creek. Ed Morris of Carroll's Bait Shop reported that Roland Augustine Sr. caught his limit of ten at the Sawkill near Willow, ranging from 8-12 inches in length.

By 10 a.m., anglers were standing shoulder-to-shoulder at the dividing weir, and Wolfgang Kohlrausch of Woodstock was one of the early lucky ones. He caught two rainbows, both 21½ inches and 4½ pounds, with icicle minnow bait. He displayed them proudly at Carroll's.

"Most of them are after rainbows," said Morris, "and there is a fair amount of guys that each have caught one. I know it's real crowded. We've been open since 4 a.m. and will open at 4 a.m. on weekends and 6 a.m. on weekdays for the next two months."

Spada's Sport Shop, which opened at 6 a.m., had no catches to report as of 10 a.m. "It must be a nice day," said Mike Spada, "because a lot of guys are staying out. We've sent out between 70 and 80. Half the guys are going to Downsville. They must have checked conditions last night."

Herman Folkert of Folkert Brothers in Phoenicia reported that Tim Short of Phoenicia caught a 19-inch rainbow trout using worms. "It's too high to fish now," said Folkert. "You've got to wait a week or so."

Four Tie in High Desert Winds

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Betty Burfeindt sank a 40-foot putt on the wind-swept 18th hole Thursday to put her in a four-way tie for the lead in the first round of the $240,000 Winners Circles golf tournament.

Erratic desert winds whipped across the Mission Hills Country Club course in the afternoon, sending scores sky high in some cases.

Burfeindt, who carded a bogey six with the putt, finished with a par 72 for the day. Tied with Burfeindt at 72 were defending champion Judy Rankin, Pam Higgins and Pat Bradley.

Rankin played the back nine earlier in the day and escaped most of the wind.

Amy Alcott was a stroke back of the leaders in fifth place. There were a dozen golfers tied at 74, including Jan Stephenson, Carol Mann, Kathy McMullen, Jo Ann Prentice and Betsy Cullen.

Sandra Palmer, the leading money winner on the LPGA trail for the year because of her victory at San Diego last weekend, could do no better than a four-over-par 76.

The winds gusted up to 35 miles an hour, sending small whirlwinds across the desert and raising little dust storms.

"I cannot believe the wind out there," said Stephenson, who had a two-under-par 34 going out but came home in 40, four over.

All the leaders except Rankin took a bogey six on the 18th hole, which has a green surrounded by water and stretches 502 yards.

"I wish I could tell you what I think of that 18th hole," said Burfeindt.

With the wind in her face, she hit her fifth shot over the green into the water and had to take a drop.

"I didn't know how to play it," she said. "I just stood up there and hit it and the darn thing went in. That was the best bogey I ever made in my life."

First prize in this tournament which is sponsored by Colgate and Dinah Shore is $36,000 and it is billed as the richest event for women in sports.

Burfeindt and Higgins said the wind forced them to use longer-distance clubs than they normally would.

"It was almost like a four or five-club wind," said Higgins. "It was so gusty it was hard to keep your balance."

JoAnne Carner, one of the longer-hitting ladies, also had a bogey six on the 18th for a total of 75. Her third shot, hitting into the wind, landed in water.

Higgins, who likes to figure odds on a tournament as a hobby, said she felt that Bradley and Burfeindt should be co-favorites to win it all on Sunday after 72 holes.

"I give a little edge to Burfeindt and Bradley," she said. "They both hit the ball a little longer than the rest of us and they are good putters."

Yet Rankin said, "This wind is the worst I can ever recall here. I wish I'd played earlier."

Jan Stephenson, who was among a dozen pros at 74, said, "I cannot believe the wind out there."

WOODSTOCK—The second and final weekend of action in the Kingston Women's Bowling Association city tournament gets underway at the Woodstock Lanes beginning 10:30 a.m. Saturday. The tournament continues through Sunday.

In last weekend's results, leaders were determined in all events of the three divisions. The highlight was Brenda Madison's 677 triple on games of 246, 197 and 234, an average of almost 82 pins over her normal game of 144. She leads the Class B singles and all-events categories.

Greco Brothers (A), Montgomery Wards & Co. (B) and The Better Halves (C) lead their respective division's team standings.

NHL Wins Were 'Peanuts' For Kings and North Stars

By UPI

Minnesota and Los Angeles used the National Hockey League's current equivalents of Charlie Brown's baseball team as whipping boys Thursday night in their Stanley Cup playoff drives.

The North Stars, getting third period goals 2:47 apart from Dean Talafous and Jim Roberts and outstanding netminding from Pete LoPresti, downed Detroit 3-1, the Red Wings' 17th consecutive game without a win.

The Kings, on Marcel Dionne's 47th and 48th goals and one goal each by the redhot line of Don Kozak, Vic Venasky and Dave Schultz, outscored Colorado 7-5, extending the Rockies' winless streak to 18 games.

Minnesota's victory boosted them into second place in the Smythe Division, a point ahead of Chicago and three in front of Vancouver in the race for the final two playoff berths to be determined.

Los Angeles' triumph put them two points ahead of Pittsburgh in the battle for second place in the Norris Division and also two points ahead of Atlanta and one behind Toronto. These four clubs are contesting for the last two home ice advantages in the Preliminary Round of the playoffs.

The only plus for the Red Wings' fans was that the club offered to redeem the night's tickets for free ones to Saturday's last home game against Pittsburgh. If the Wings had won, there would have been no free tickets.

Noting the unusual nature of the offer by Detroit management, Minnesota Coach Ted Harris was fearful Detroit might win. But a lack of Red Wing aggressiveness contributed to the team's 53rd loss, the most in the NHL.

"We knew about this ticket promotion deal and didn't know how the Detroit team would react from a standpoint of playing a different all-out winning game or not," said Harris. "But we won it and that's another one out of the way. We got real good goaltending tonight from Pete LoPresti and he's been doing well lately."

Talafous' 20-foot slap shot at 13:34 proved the game-winner for Minnesota and Roberts added an insurance tally at the 16:21 mark. Tim Young scored the North Stars' first goal at 13:48 of the second period. Dennis Polonich tied the score for Detroit, winless since Feb. 24, with his short-handed goal at 7:47 of the third session, the only one of 21 Detroit shots to get past LoPresti.

Dionne's second goal of the night, a 35-footer for a personal season high, snapped a 4-4 tie with 1:38 gone in the final period. But Dionne said he is not as concerned with getting his 50th goal as he is with the team scoring, no matter who gets the shot.

"If it's two-on-one and I've got 49 goals and the other guy is open, I'm going to pass it unless we're way ahead," he said. "It means as much to see the other guy score."

However, said Dionne, who played with Team Canada in the Canada Cup prior to the start of this season, "If I'm ever going to have a 50-goal season, it will be this year. Maybe I'm going to have to start training camp a month earlier every year. It has helped me this year."

Each NHL team now has two games remaining — Friday or Saturday, and Sunday. There were no other NHL games Thursday night.

In the World Hockey Association, New England routed Phoenix 6-2 and San Diego nipped Winnipeg 4-3.

WHA Mike Antonovich's two third period goals, his 39th and 40th, helped the Whalers down the Roadrunners...and Joe Norris' second goal of the game and 30th of the season with 26 seconds to play countered two goals by Bobby Hull and edged the Mariners past the Jets.

Bowie's Strange Definition of 'Dispatch'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rather righteously, Bowie Kuhn keeps saying he'll act with dispatch whenever or wherever he finds any case of conduct not in the best interests of Baseball.

Nice speech.

Since I'm sure he's aware haste and speed are synonymous with dispatch, I wonder who's sitting on his hands because so far he has taken no action whatsoever regarding the Frank Lucchesi-Len Randle affair.

Five days have passed since the 50-year-old manager Texas Rangers was sent to a hospital as a result of a physical beating from one of his players, who was enraged because he felt he wasn't playing enough. The Rangers have suspended the 28-year-old Randle for the time being and Kuhn says he has been in contact with them and is satisfied with the procedure being followed. The commissioner, it seems to me, is rather easily satisfied, particularly in a case as serious as this one.

What's he waiting for? To see the films?

How can he simply sit back and say this is a club matter? There are matters transcending club jurisdiction which fairly cry out for action by a higher authority in baseball, and certainly this has to be one of them. Has Bowie Kuhn forgotten about a previous commissioner who came to be laughed at over the frequency with which he side-stepped one sticky issue after another by saying it was a league matter?

Kuhn acted with great dispatch when Charlie Finley tried to sell Vida Blue, Joe Rudi and Rollie Fingers. He came down on Finley with both feet by blocking the sales within 24 hours.

The commissioner maintains he is not an "owners' man" even though they're the ones who hired him and are paying his salary. That's fine. But he can't be a "players' man,"

SPORT PARADE

Milton Richman,
UPI Sports Editor

either when he has clear-cut evidence one of them has conducted himself not in the best interests of Baseball?

I once asked Pete Rozelle what he thought were a commissioner's chief functions, and he told me he felt a commissioner had to be completely neutral and address himself equally to the needs and interests of the game itself, the fans, the players and management. It was a perfect answer.

There is an urgent need now for Bowie Kuhn to keep baseball from suffering the loss of stature it surely will if he simply permits a completely unwarranted physical assault by a player upon a manager, whom he's as duty bound to support as much as any player.

Randle lost his second base job to rookie Bump Wills on merit, and nothing else. Isn't this the very nature of baseball? Moreover, Frank Lucchesi is the kind of manager who always has had his players' interests at heart.

The Rangers gave Randle a chance, but Randle didn't give Lucchesi a chance. He hit him when he had one hand in his pocket and he was looking down. Randle neglected to take a number of things into consideration.

One of them is that Frank Lucchesi has a special steel plate in his head. He was pitching batting practice one day while managing the Pine Bluff, Ark., club and he was hit by a line drive. Two holes had to be drilled in Lucchesi's head to relieve the pressure on his brain and for days the doctors weren't sure whether he'd live or die. He was in the hospital a month.

Now the Rangers have word Randle would like to make a public apology to Lucchesi. Isn't that generous of him? Meanwhile, the Texas manager is having trouble breathing in an Orlando, Fla., hospital because of back contusions. He has heard about the Players' Association planning to file a "grievance" against the Rangers for suspending Randle and that almost stops him altogether.

"My mother always told me to be nice to people, to put myself in the other person's shoes," he said Thursday. "But she also told me not to let anyone take unfair advantage of me. This is one time Frank Lucchesi is not going to bow his neck because I think there is a time where owners and managers must take a stand. I can foresee the day where some ballplayer isn't happy on the club, so he punches the manager, and says 'now I can be traded.'"

"Well, I'm going to put a stop to it right now. If Lenny Randle crawls a hundred miles to say he's sorry, he can turn right around and crawl another hundred miles because I'll tell him. 'Good luck, pal.' I know what recourse I have, and as soon as I'm back on my feet, I'll handle this in my own way. I can give Lenny Randle all the assurance he wants, it'll be the proper way."

New Coach Marz Expects Big Things from Senators

STONE RIDGE—First-year coach Bob Marz is expecting great things from his Ulster County Community College baseball team this spring. The Senators, who have had problems practicing at their home facilities, open their schedule Saturday with a doubleheader at Bergen Community College in New Jersey.

"The guys have a really good attitude," said Marz, who is in his last semester as a student at New Paltz State. "We should have a really good team. I'm really looking forward to the season."

Marz is especially high on the quality of his infielders, including co-captain Pete Sciascia of New Paltz, a second baseman and shortstop; co-captain Nick Malgieri of Saugerties, also a second baseman and shortstop; Val Im of Kingston, primarily a third baseman who also plays second base and in the outfield; Jay Harris of Saugerties, described as an excellent defensive shortstop; Wally Smith of New Paltz, first baseman who can hit for power; and Bob Egan of Wallkill, third baseman and catcher.

Sciascia is a fast runner who is expected to steal a lot of bases. Malgieri is noted for his speed and hitting ability.

Of Val Galm, Marz said: "He is a smart base runner and has ability to hit the ball. He should be an excellent clutch hitter with men on base and I expect him to produce a lot of runs batted in."

Six outfielders are competing for the three starting positions.

They are Nick Longendyke and Frank Pampinella of Coleman, Dave Schmeltz of Rondout Valley, Jim Maher of Kingston, Greg her and Greg Mackey of Kingston and Mark Adels of Ontario.

"The outfield positions are wide open as of now," said Marz. "Those who exhibit the strongest throwing arms and best bats will start."

Marz may shift the better hitting spare infielders to the outfield to bolster the attack. He may also use some of the faster outfielders as designated runners when pitchers and catchers get on base.

The pitching corps, virtually all new, includes sophomores Sciascia and Paul Lawatsch of Kingston, and freshmen Marco Tiano of Kingston, Jerry Lopez of Queens Vocational, Jeff LaVigne o Saugerties and Dave Loeffler of Kingston.

"Our pitching staff has good depth," said Marz, "and will be one of the tallest and most powerful staffs in the Mid-Hudson Conference. Tiano and Loeffler had several no-hitters between them in American Legion ball and are capable of repeating these performances during the season. Barring sore arms, our hurlers should have a very successful season."

Lawatsch will be both a starter and reliever, and also play in the outfield when not pitching. Sciascia's role, in addition to his infield duties, will be as a reliever.

Marz predicts that Tiano could become one of the best pitchers in Region XV because of the control and speed he has shown. Tiano can also play first base or the outfield.

The coach describes Loeffler as having the "strongest arm in the east," and has also been impressed by his hitting. Loeffler can play catcher and the outfield.

LaVigne and Lopez are also able to play several positions.

The schedule: April 2, at Bergen (2); 5, DUTCHESS (2); 7, COLUMBIA-GREENE; 12, at Schenectady (2); 14, FARMINGDALE (2); 16, MANHATTAN; 17, NEW YORK CITY; 19, SULLIVAN (2); 23, at Orange (2); 25, KINGSBOROUGH; 27, at Delhi Tech (2); 30, ROCKLAND (2); May 3, at Westchester (2); 4, at Columbia-Greene; 7, at Cobleskill Tech (2); Region XV, May 10,13,14; District,20,21.

George Atkinson Rule Gets Tabled

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — National Football League club owners adopted four minor playing rules changes at their spring meeting Thursday but tabled until June a decision on the so-called "George Atkinson Rule."

Of the four rules, the most important involves eligible pass receivers.

The rule reads simply that a defender will be permitted to make contact with an eligible receiver either in the threeyard zone at or beyond the line of scrimmage or once beyond that zone but not both.

The other rule changes penalizes a team for late gametime starts, makes it illegal for a wide-receiver to clip an opponent anywhere and makes the kicking of a loose ball a foul only if the act is ruled to be deliberate.

The so-called "George Atkinson Rule" refers to blatant striking or hitting of an opponent. Last year in the opening game of the season Atkinson, a defensive back for the Oakland Raiders, struck Pittsburgh wide-receiver Lynn Swann, who suffered a concussion.

Owners sought here to clarify the rule, but it was decided to check films of previous games before making a decision, which could come at the league's June meeting.

The commissioner already has the authority to suspend a player charged with unnecessary violence, but some owners want the rule spelled out clearly so there will be no mistaking its intent in the future.

Rules changes took up most of Thursday's session, and the owners wind up their meetings on Friday by taking up the question of retroactive compensation. A total of 19 players is affected, and some owners would like to clarify compensation terms involving them, their old clubs and their new ones.

In other business, the owners agreed the next draft, May 3-4, will be limited to 12 rounds and 368 players as originally planned and they also voted roster limitations.

On player limits the significant change was the restoration of a two-man taxi squad.

The player limit for 1977 will remain the same as it was last year—at 43—but each club will be permitted to carry either a one-or two-man taxi squad from which players may be shifted back and forth at any time up to an hour before game time.

Detroit Boxers Lead In 50th Golden Gloves

HONOLULU (UPI) — Detroit and Pennsylvania fighters all won opening round bouts in five weight divisions Thursday in the 50th annual National Golden Gloves tournament to battle for the team lead in the tourney.

After Thursday's fights, Detroit has 13 team points and Pennsylvania 10. Honolulu is in third place with 9.

Detroit and Pennsylvania each have nine fighters still in contention for individual titles in their weights and each will see action in today's third round.

Detroit and Pennsylvania each had two fighters advance via the knockout route.

Pennsylvania's Jetters Parnis knocked out John Liechty, Los Angeles, in the second round in a 165-pound bout and Myron Taylor did the honors to Charles Powell, Toledo, Ohio, in the first round of a 119-pound battle.

For Detroit, Jimmi Paul put the lights out for Keith Webster, Minneapolis, in the first of a 119-pound battle and heavyweight Perscell Davis gave James Nelson, Grand Rapids, Mich., an early bedtime in the second round of their match.

The quickest knockout of the 96 bouts in three rings came in the heavyweight division when Phillip Brown, Lafayette, La., levelled Solomon Dollison, Indianapolis, after 14 seconds.

Another quick KO came in the 119-pound class as Rocky Lockridge, Las Vegas, Nev., conked Dominic Roach, Lowell, Mass., at 1:38.

Knoxville, tied with Miami and Lafayette for fourth place in team standings, advanced all four fighters it entered. But a conspicuous absentee was big John Tate, the Olympic heavyweight bronze medalist. He had turned pro March 20.

Ralph Aviles in the 119-pound class gave Sefulu Togafau in the heavyweight class gave host Honolulu its only two contenders Thursday. Aviles decisioned John Houston, Elizabeth, N.J., and Togafau did the same to Michael Smith, Jackson, Tenn.,

Combined with three other third-round contenders from Wednesday, Honolulu has five men still fighting.

Fort Worth advanced four of its five entries Thursday, including state featherweight champ Sammy Ayala, who decisioned Kevin Wages, Washington, D.C., and Chris Linson on the New Mexico team.

Ticket Distribution Set

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (UPI) — A quarter of all tickets at the 1980 Moscow Olympics will be for sale to foreign tourists, according to the president of the Soviet organizing committee.

Ignati Novikov, a high-ranking member of the Soviet Presidium and the man charged with overseeing the organization of the Games, disclosed the system to be used at a news conference Thursday.

Novikov said a total of 450,000 tickets would be available for each day of the games in the various sports and half of these would be reserved for the citizens of Moscow. The other half would be divided between Soviet citizens from other parts of the country and foreign tourists.

"Thus, there will be about 125,000 tickets each day available to foreign tourists," Novikov said.

He said the IOC had approved a system whereby the national Olympic committee of each country would nominate a travel agency to handle all applications. Each ticket would be automatically linked with accommodation.

"We expect about 350,000 tourists in Moscow," Novikov said.

He placed total construction costs for the Moscow Games at about 210 million rubles, which he called about $300 million. But he would not be drawn into putting an overall figure on the Olympic budget.

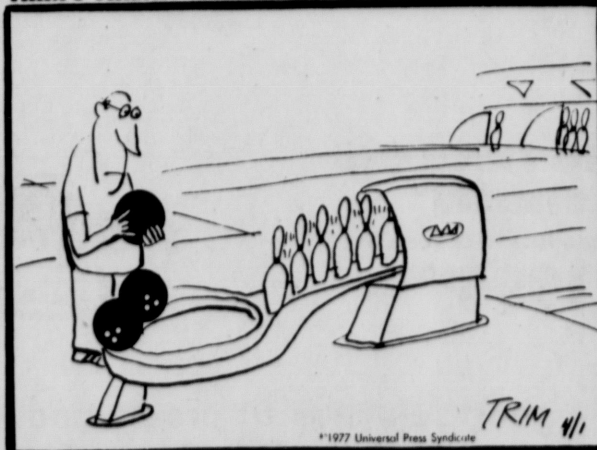

"We hope we will spend less than Montreal because of the good relations we have with most countries."

He confirmed NBC had been awarded the U.S. television rights for a total of $85 million.

Concerning the 1980 Winter Olympics, to be held at Lake Placid, N.Y., the president of the resort's organizing committee said Thursday New

Her Rights Were Denied

DENVER (UPI) — The Kiowa County school board violated a married high school girl's constitutional rights by banning her from playing on the school basketball team, the Colorado Appeals Court ruled Thursday.

The court ordered Lamar District Court Judge Robert Sanderson to invalidate the board's policy of forbidding married students from participating in extracurricular activities.

Tammy Peeson filed the suit. As a freshman, she played basketball at Eads High School, but stopped participation for two years and was banned from playing her senior year by the school board.

Members of the board said Mrs. Peeson should devote her spare time to her family and small child. The Colorado Appeals Court said the board denied Mrs. Peeson equal protection under the 14th Amendment.

Duvillard Needs Motivation Too

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — French skier Henri Duvillard says hunger as well as talent will determine whether he repeats as World Pro Ski champion this weekend.

Duvillard goes into the final event of the WPS tour Saturday and Sunday at Snowbird Resort only 15 points ahead of Swiss challenger Josef Odermatt. Duvillard plans to retire after the Hawaiian Tropic meet—win or lose.

"This last race is very important for me," the 29-year-old native of Megeve, France, said Thursday. "I will do anything to win it."

He said Odermatt, who finished second to Duvillard last season, was so close this season "because I won so many races last year. This year, I didn't put everything together as well and win as many races. I wasn't as hungry."

"Josef has never been world champion, so he has been trying much harder. Last year Josef was skiing very well and didn't have enough in his head. This year he did."

Duvillard said he had seen a chiropractor after a three-week rest in France, and had the problem with three displaced vertebrae cured. He said he did not expect the back problem to bother him in the weekend's races.

Since returning from France, he said, he had skied Snowbird for three days and found the slopes and snow conditions to his liking.

"I can ski on any kind of snow. It's the slope that matters. This one is not very steep, but it is the kind of slope that I prefer."

Lutheran Finishes Best in New York

SYRACUSE—Lutheran of Brookville was crowned No. 1 in the large schools division and Woodlands was named best of the small schools as the New York State Sports Writers Association issued its final high school basketball poll of the season.

Lutheran, Section Eight, finished the season at 19-1. Woodlands, Section One, wound up at 21-2.

Large school honorable mention selections included John Jay, East Fishkill (15-5), Newburgh Free Academy (10-7), Arlington (12-8) and Poughkeepsie (12-9). In the small schools, honorable mention kudos went to Fallsburgh (12-7), Highland (13-7), Liberty (18-4), Marlboro (13-3), Red Hook (14-4) and Rhinebeck (13-7).

Plantier to Start For Albany State

ALBANY—Sophomore outfielder-pitcher Roger Plantier is on the starting nine of the Albany State University varsity baseball team. The former New Paltz High School star is the only lefthanded hurler for the Great Danes and coach Bob Burlingame feels Plantier is his steadiest outfielder.

Plantier, whose freshman year performance was good until he was shelved with a broken collarbone, will accompany the team as it begins an eight-day, six-game swing through Virginia and North Carolina today.

The trip includes games with Washington & Lee, High Point College (three), California (Pa.) and Madison College in Harrisburg, Va.

JACOBSEN TURBO-VENT... the proven mower!

JACOBSEN TURBO-VENT... the proven mower!

Thousands of home owners have learned two facts:

1. The name "JACOBSEN" means reliability.
2. "Turbo Vent" means a better looking lawn.

Turbo Vent's unique vented deck enables smoother mowing because of the lifting action with the blades of grass. Also, there is less clogging due to the superior air flow in the cutting chamber.

- Quick and easy! Either recoil or Electric "Key Start"
- Available with "Pace Command" Separate speed control of blade and forward motion for better cutting, easier walking
- No bending, no stooping with controls right on handle
- 19" or 21" cutting widths
- Safety Shield
- Grass catcher included (except Model #31906)

Cauthen Wins Four in Finale

By UPI

Steve Cauthen gave his fans at Aqueduct something to remember him by Friday before taking off for a day in his honor in his home town of Walton, Ky., Saturday.

Cauthen rode winners in the last four races at the Big A, and all showed good returns for those who put their money on the 16-year-old apprentice sensation.

Cauthen, who finished second twice and third once in the first five races, started his streak with Albie's Truck Stop ($5.40) in the sixth. Those who stayed with Cauthen were rewarded with Big Apple ($7.80) in the seventh, Illiterate ($6.00) in the $25,000 handicap feature for fillies and mares and Patti's Power ($30.20) in the ninth. Patti's Power headed a $7,053 triple.

Illiterate, who won his third race in six starts this year, took the lead just before the three-quarter pole and never was headed. Illiterate covered the mile and 70 yard distance in 1:43 1-5. Sweet Bernice finished second and Abystar third.

Friday has been declared "Steve Cauthen Day" throughout Boone County, Ky., which includes Cauthen's hometown of Walton, population 1,500. Cauthen is to receive proclamations from the Governor of Kentucky and the judge and mayor of Boone County and will ride up to six races at Latonia Race Course.

Latonia is opening up its gates an hour early in anticipation of a crowd that figures to break the track attendance record of 11,000.

"We're counting on the whole town of Walton showing up and then we're taking it from there," said Vance.

Local fans have been hoping Cauthen will stick around and ride in Saturday afternoon's big race at Latonia, the $35,000-added Spiral Stakes, but Vance isn't sure.

Commission Plans Intervention

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Maryland Racing Commission plans to intervene in the strike that threatens the 102nd running of the Preakness at the Pimlico Race Course.

The commission has scheduled a public meeting April 12 of representatives from the union and three race tracks.

Local 692 of the Retail Clerks International Association, which represents parimutuel workers and track ticket handlers, went on strike three weeks ago. The strike forced cancellation of the last week of racing at Bowie Race Course and has kept Pimlico closed.

Representatives of Laurel Race Track were invited because their meet follows Pimlico's.

Maryland officials are concerned about the possible loss

Scott LeDoux Subpoened

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavyweight Scott LeDoux, loser of a controversial decision last month in promoter Don King's nationally televised American Boxing Championships, has been subpoenaed to appear before a federal grand jury in Baltimore on Tuesday, April 5.

LeDoux charged after his Feb. 13 match with Johnny Boudreaux the tournament favored fighters handled by King's partners, Al Braverman and Paddy Flood, and all the fighters, including himself, had to pay kickback fees to Braverman and Flood to get into the tournament in the first place.

LeDoux, who lives in Minnesota, and King, currently in Puerto Rico, were not available to UPI for comment and federal officials in Baltimore refused to speak of any pending investigation.

"I can only confirm that Scott LeDoux has been subpoenaed by the federal grand

Pearl's Loses First

KINGSTON—Anchorage withstood a furious second-half rally by Pearl's Place to take an 83-80 victory in the YMCA Basketball League "B" division and give Pearl's its first loss.

Anchorage led at halftime, 48-27, but Pearl's almost pulled out the game with a 53-35 second half advantage. Joe Uhl paced Anchorage with 26 points and Kevin Brooks added 19, while Hyler Van Wagenan notched 32 for Pearl's.

In other "B" games, Welco defeated Wood Construction, 82-60, with Floyd Vogt hitting 29 for the victors and Bruce Wood and Steve Schoonmaker combining for 43 points for

Monticello Readies For 20th Season

MONTICELLO—The $300,000 Monticello-OTB Classic and four Saturday doubleheaders highlight Monticello Raceway's revised racing schedule. The April 18 opening marks the track's 20th anniversary season, with racing programs scheduled to end Sept. 30.

This season marks the introduction of the $2 quiniela, the first time that the quiniela has been included as part of a regular racing program in New York State. The third, fourth and tenth races will be quiniela races. In the quiniela, horses are selected to finish first and second, regardless of the order.

The raceway's annual Salute to Labor is on opening night, the only Monday night of racing until May 30, when the track resumes seven-days-a-week racing.

Doubleheaders are scheduled for Saturday, May 2 as part of the Memorial Day weekend; Saturday, July 2; Classic weekend, July 30 (Saturday); and Saturday, Sept. 2, Labor Day weekend.

Stoll and Del Rosario Elected Co-Captains

STONE RIDGE—Ulster County Community College men's tennis coach Paul Donadio has announced that Ken Del Rosario and Andy Stoll, both of Saugerties, have been elected co-captains of Senators' squad. Both are returning lettermen.

Other members of the team include Richard Carlson, Chris Norton, Scott Petito, Matt Klein and Jim Thompson, all of Kingston; Don Fisher of Cottekill and Steve Thorbjornsen of Kerhonkson.

King Disappoints in Classic

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) — Most people at the Capital Classic high school all-star game expected a double-pump, in-your-face, slam-dunk scoring duel between the country's two most recruited forwards, Albert King and Gene Banks.

Some were disappointed.

Banks, nicknamed "Tinkerbell" at West Philadelphia High in Philadelphia, held up his end with nine-for-16 from the floor, 22 points and 10 rebounds. But King, expected to become "The Franchise" for the college of his choice, had only eight points on three-for-11 from the floor, although he had 15 rebounds.

Their team, the U.S. AllStars, handed the Washington Metro All-Stars an expected beating, 112-92.

"I was missing a lot of alleyoops. They played good defense," said King, from New York's Fort Hamilton High. "But, hey, everybody here is No. 1 at their school, so everybody should put on a big show."

King, who will join Banks at the Dapper Dan Classic at Pittsburgh tonight, intends to keep his worshipful following of college coaches in suspense until late May. "I want to see where some other people go to school first," he said.

Banks, who said early he intends to go to Duke, came through with four straight baskets early in the fourth quarter when the undermanned Metro team pulled within four points.

"Coach (Jake Caldwell of Miami) told me then 'they can't stop you, do your thing,'" said Banks, the runaway choice for Most Valuable Player on his team. "Before that, we didn't play any one-on-one basketball. We wanted to show the people that this wasn't a one-on-one tournament."

They might have been better off playing it that way. The U.S. team committed 40 turnovers—11 by Banks, enough to make Duke Coach Bill Foster shudder—while the Metro team had 23. Most of the miscues came on fast breaks that fizzled.

Guard Ken Matthews of Washington's Dunbar High paced the Metro team—which shot a miserable 40 per cent, compared to 51 for the U.S. squad—with 18 points. Craig Harris of T.C. Williams High in Alexandria, Va., added 14 and was chosen his team's MVP.

Big Apple Classic Features Glenn Mosley

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York broke open the game in the third period, taking the lead for good at 75-74 on a basket by Cecil Relfford of St. John's, the host school.

Three baskets by Pratt's Larry Williams, who finished with 23 points, gave New York a 96-86 lead after three quarters of the game played under NBA rules.

Cedric "Cornbread" Maxwell, the hero of North CarolinaCharlotte's fourth-place finish in the NCAA tournament, scored eight of his game-high 24 points in the first quarter when the U.S. took a 34-32 lead.

Killingsworth Has Plans For Oklahoma State

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — Jim Killingsworth, Oklahoma State University's new head basketball coach, said during his first news conference Thursday he is looking forward to recruiting and establishing himself in the school's athletic program.

"Yes we're a little behind in the entire basketball program but I'll hire another assistant as soon as I can and hit the recruiting to catch up," said Killingsworth, who came from Idaho State, which he guided

Death Row Author Convicted: Attempted Murder and Kidnaping

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — "Death Row author" Edgar Herbert Smith Jr., who fought 14 years to escape execution, has been convicted of attempted murder and kidnaping with intent to rob a seamstress last October.

Superior Court Judge Gilbert Harelson had delayed his verdict a day in the nonjury case because Smith, eyes blackened from a reported beating by other inmates, appeared in court Wednesday still dazed from the attack.

Smith insisted again Thursday that he simply fell out of his cell bunk, but his attorney said he had been "worked over" by other prisoners.

The judge ordered a probation report despite his expressed belief "the defendant is not eligible for probation." Smith faces a possible life sentence, but parole can be considered after seven years.

The 43-year-old defendant failed to persuade Harelson that his intent was to rape Lefteriya Ozbun, 33, rather than to rob her.

The judge also found Smith guilty of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder and attempted robbery while armed.

Mrs. Ozbun was stabbed with a six-inch knife during a wild freeway chase, but she managed to roll out of the car when it slowed on an off-ramp.

The judge read testimony from Mrs. Ozbun that her attacker told her, "I'm going to take you, your damned money, and I'm going to stick that knife in you."

Smith, who gained fame for two best-selling books

during the 14 years he spent on New Jersey's Death Row for the bludgeoning of a 15-year-old high school cheerleader, sat in court

Thursday with his head down. He later said he thought the judge was wrong.

Sentencing was set for April 21.

Smith had always denied committing the New Jersey murder, but in court Monday he admitted to the killing as well as the molesting of an 11-year-old girl. It was after that admission he suffered the apparent jailhouse beating.

Shoots Man During Rape Attempt

LAWTON, Okla. (UPI) — Police, responding to a 24-year-old woman's report that she fired five shots into a man who was raping her, followed a trail of blood to arrest a suspect half a block from the woman's apartment.

Pfc. Charles A. Buford, who was stationed at Ft. Sill, was wounded in the back, chest and genital area, said police Lt. Ron Rutledge.

Buford, 20, of Flint, Mich., was listed in serious condition following surgery at Reynolds Army Hospital.

The woman, whose husband was away on military duty, told police she was awakened Thursday by a man who had entered her apartment through a bedroom window.

The attacker warned the woman to be quiet or he would harm her 1-year-old child, who was sleeping with her, and then attacked her, she told police.

The woman said she fired

again when the man moved while she was telephoning police.

SATURDAY, APRIL 2

Your birthday today: This year you depart from old work habits, take up new skills, join the technological revolution. Even the most trivial events have a theatrical quality. Relationships are tested, run deeper. Today's natives have strong intuition that doesn't function at all times or consistently. Often they begin projects, depend on others for completion or continuance. Those born this year will be fascinated by the occult, need serious academic studies early in life.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Let "slow but sure" be your motto. One way or another, you asked for heavier work, extra responsibility. Now that you've got it, morale is very significant.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): You're more to do than you can cope with, must farm out part of the job. People normally easy to deal with aren't obliging. You won't have the last word.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: You can't always make others happy or solve problems you haven't caused. Ask no favors. If unusual allowances are made for you, you must do something in return.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Getting your way brings conflict with others of similar preoccupation. The prize goes to the one who recognizes the situation and sensibly averts a crisis.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Salesmanship and politics are all uphill, yet to some extent unavoidable. Whatever you do, you hear repercussions. Try for change of scene, entertainment tonight.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]:

Emotional factors enter into all decisions. Forgive and work through interpersonal clashes, or retire from the relationship so no more discussion is needed.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Waste no time lamenting the past. Make use of current opportunity. New people with odd points of view offer competition. Budgets strain or break easily.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Your use of money comes into question; be prepared to set the record straight without arguments over side issues. Evening is for fun and games in moderation.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Don't ask what people have done for you lately but what you've done to inspire their generosity. Avoid crowds, travel a minimum, off-schedule.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: People who fancy themselves authorities are difficult to reach or deal with. Make contacts you've put off, renew ties where you have something to gain.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Property transfers, heavy purchases, serious business are favored if you studied the details thoroughly. Communications, travel are complicated, delayed.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Think where your obligations begin and end. Don't go far afield or defend any but your own interests. Work must be done, can't be skipped or delegated.

TEEN FORUM

By JEAN ADAMS, Ph.D.

HARASSED: (Q.) A boy in my class is making life unbearable for me. You see, it started three months ago when Reg asked me to go with him. I said no because I was about to go with another boy.

This got Reg mad. He went to Peter, the other boy, and told him a lot of vicious lies about me. Peter broke up with me.

Since then Reg is constantly telling people I am a snob, a slut, and worse. He is constantly making obscene passes at me. I think seriously that I am going to get transferred to another school. Nobody has any idea how awful it is for me every time I have to walk into the classroom. Please help me. —Miserable in New Jersey

(A.) Reg is getting away with his crimes because are not doing anything to stop him.

You must report him to your counselor at school and ask the counselor for help. Tell your parents all about it, too. Do all of this NOW. Don't wait.

To make it worse, this guy I like can't even come see me. His name is Les and he is 18. My parents think he is too old. That's their main reason for saying I can't date.

They say wait a few more years. But no matter how long I wait, Les will always be three years older than I am. What should I do?—No Progress in Pennsylvania

(A.) Your parents are on fairly solid ground about Les. Right now, he may be too old for you. Three years from now, he wouldn't be, because then both of you would be adults.

But you do not want to wait three years, and you shouldn't. I suggest you find a boy of 15, or maybe 16, to be interested in. Perhaps then your parents will be more reasonable about visits and—before too long—dating.

(Have a problem? Write to Dr. Jean Adams, care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, TX 77001. Because so many write, Dr. Adams cannot answer you personally. But she will answer readers' letters in Teen Forum daily.)

FOOLISH FINESSE MAY BE ONLY CHANCE

by Alfred Sheinwold

We're engaged this week on a scholarly study of finesses, but it wouldn't be complete without the type of finesse that makes the opponents look foolish. What day could be better for our purpose?

The grand slam was an overbid, but all South needed was any additional jack to play legitimately for 13 tricks. With the actual hand, Atlanta expert Margaret Wagar had no legitimate play. (Let's not hear any had jokes about the connection between legitimacy and jack.)

Mrs. Wagar took the ace of clubs and drew four rounds of trumps. Then she led the queen of hearts, hoping she looked as though she also held the jack of hearts.

NOT LURED
West quickly played low, assuming that South was trying to lure him into covering if he had the king. West expected declarer to go up with dummy's ace of hearts and play for the diamonds to break favorably; and West knew that the diamonds weren't going to break.

West's foolish play was exactly what Mrs. Wagar had been hoping for. She let the queen of hearts ride for a "finesse." When it held, she cashed the top diamonds, ruffed a diamond and returned to dummy with the ace of hearts to cash the last diamond.

Don't expect this kind of play to work on April second!

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: ♠ 2 ♣ J874 ♦ 1082 ♣ J10653. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts. You have only 2 points in high cards but should count 3 points for the singleton and perhaps another point for the jack of partner's bid suit. Look for an excuse to bid (even if you have to stretch a point) when you have good support for partner's hearts and a singleton in spades.

'Negotiations Were Not Devious'

Carter Adviser Raps Soviets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter's top foreign-affairs adviser today accused the Soviet Union of making "innaccurate" charges about unsuccessful arms talks in Moscow and warned that Carter will not shut up on human rights to get a strategic weapons agreement.

"I think if SALT is dependent on the United States having to deny itself the right to affirm these (human rights) beliefs, then it is not worth it," said Zbigniew Brzezinski.

Leading an apparent White House drive to drum up favorable world opinion for an arms agreement between the superpowers, Brzezinski was interviewed on the NBC-TV Today program and arranged to meet with other reporters later.

He said:

— The Russians rejected proposals from Carter in Moscow which would have capped the arms race and reduced the threshold of nuclear confrontation.

— Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was wrong in accusing the United States and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance of conducting devious negotiations in Moscow.

— The United States will not abandon its allies in Western Europe by unilaterally removing defensive missiles without a similar cutback in Russian offensive missiles aimed at the area.

— And he is confident arms talks will be pursued by both sides and hopes the Russians will finally see the mutual advantages of a proposal to cut strategic weapons.

As for further arms negotiations, Brzezinski said he is confident the matter will be pursued by Vance and Gromyko in Geneva in May.

"The Russians must have time to study such a comprehensive proposal."

On Gromyko's statement that if the Soviet Union must cut back her strategic missiles, then the Russians will have to raise the question of American deployment in Western Europe, he said:

"If they raise that issue, then it will, of course and necessarily, open up also the question of medium-range weapons systems."

"Western Europe, after all, is exposed to Soviet medium-range weaponry. And if the Soviet Union insists on opening the issue that pertains to our defensive systems in Europe — which are only designed to protect Europe, because Western Europe doesn't have strategic systems — then necessarily the Soviet systems targeted on Europe become subject for negotiations."

But, he added, if the Soviet Union "wishes to widen the scope...then at some future point, in full consultation with our allies, it is not to be entirely excluded."

Carter appeared to be taking the temporary breakdown in stride, keeping his schedule fairly light.

Tape Shows Pilot Started Without Clearance

Crash Victims To Be Flown Home Sat.

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Spain (UPI) — The remains of American victims of history's worst air disaster will be flown home Saturday in a giant C-5 Galaxy Air Force plane, U.S. officials said today.

They said most of the bodies will have anonymous death certificates because almost all of the 577 dead were burned and mangled beyond recognition in the flaming runway collision Sunday of a Pan American 747 and a KLM 747.

U.S. officials said the bodies will be flown to Dover Air Force Base in Delaware, where more attempts will be made to identify them.

Franz Van Reysen, the chief of a Dutch investigation team, said late Thursday the disaster — the biggest in aviation history — occurred when the Dutch pilot started a takeoff run down the foggy runway "without final takeoff clearance."

He said tape recordings of conversations between the planes and the airport control tower "reveal a combination of circumstances that might have caused a misunderstanding" on the part of the Dutch pilot.

The flight data of the two airplanes' movements, their cockpit voice recorders and a copy of the control-tower tapes were flown to Madrid Thursday. They will be shipped Sunday to Washington for examination by experts.

William R. Haley, chief of a U.S. National Transportation Safety Board investigating team, said the review of the recordings will begin Monday.

He expressed confidence the full history of the disaster can be reconstructed.

One task will be to mesh the voice tapes and the data recorders to find out where exactly the two airplanes were at every stage of the recorded radio contacts, he said.

The crash occurred when the KLM plane began its takeoff and slammed into the Pan Am plane, which was on the runway and taxiing to a side ramp to let the KLM craft take off.

In Madrid, a delegation of Canary Islands representatives in the Cortes (parliament) met with Premier Adolfo Suarez Thursday night to ask him to crack down on the Algerian-backed terrorists who played an indirect role in the disaster.

The Canary Islands Independence Movement set off a bomb in Las Palmas airport — the destination of the two jetliners — forcing them to be rerouted to Santa Cruz.

The disaster occurred as air controllers tried to clear the Santa Cruz airport of the planes that had accumulated there — three 747s and half a dozen other jets.

FDA Proposes Crackdown on PCBs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration today proposed a crackdown on the amount of a potential cancer-causing substance that may be found in dairy products, poultry, eggs and fish.

Environmentalists call the move inadequate.

Subject of the action are PCBs, widely used chemical compounds found in transformers, brake linings and many other products.

The Environmental Defense Fund and the Natural Resources Defense Council last fall petitioned for reductions as an interim step toward eventually outlawing PCBs entirely from food.

Dr. Joseph Highland, head of EDF's toxic chemicals program, called the FDA proposal "disappointing and inadequate" because it does not appear to be a move toward an eventual ban.

"They're going in the right direction, clearly," he said, but added that they seem not to recognize that the PCB problem is not going to go away. He said the EPA has estimated there are 750 million pounds of PCBs currently in service and 150 million in small doses could enter the environment, and eventually food, through garbage landfills, streams and the like.

Potentially, he said, there are five times as many PCBs waiting to enter the environment as have already caused current problems.

The FDA said PCBs are an "unavoidable contaminant" and it would be impossible to eliminate them entirely.

Highland acknowledged that a complete ban now would result in many foods being outlawed, but said his group is not asking for an immediate ban and the important point was a promise to move toward an eventual zero tolerance.

"Our purpose is to establish the lowest safe level feasible," the FDA spokesman said. "There has been a significant reduction in the exposure of the public to PCBs over the past few years."

The crash occurred when the KLM plane began its takeoff and slammed into the Pan Am plane, which was on the runway and taxiing to a side ramp to let the KLM craft take off.

In Madrid, a delegation of Canary Islands representatives in the Cortes (parliament) met with Premier

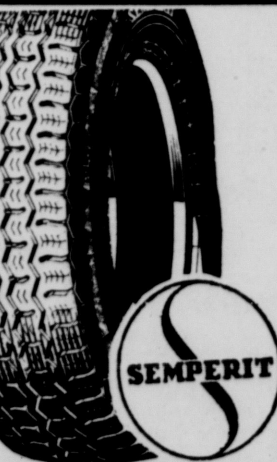

DUFFY

This handsome, delightful young man is an 18 month old Airedale. He is full of vim, vigor and vitality and loves to play. Duffy is friendly and affectionate, but he is strong and would probably be too energetic for small children.

A little patience and firm handling would make him an excellent pet for some active family. Duffy has been at the shelter for several weeks and urgently needs a home now. Please, somebody help him
